Beach Day

Town now must collect late light bills

by Jeff Nazzaro

A ruling handed down from Middlesex Superior Court last week will require the town of Wilmington to place property tax liens if necessary to collect debts owed to the Reading Municipal Light Department by residents of the town. The decision comes after a four year dispute between the RMLD and town officials over the state lien statute.

RMLD, in celebrating the court decision, has proclaimed its customers the real victors.

"This is a great victory for the customers," RMLD General Manager Len Rucker exulted. "Thanks to the judge's decision, RMLD customers who are current with their payments will not have to pay for the debts of others."

But the town, whose position since 1992 has been that it does not want to act as a collection agency for RMLD, has countered in the past that the amount outstanding has been so small as to have a negligible effect on rates.

Rucker said he could not give a current figure for the amount outstanding in Wilmington. He said that at one time last fall, the amount stood at between $16,000-$20,000.

Rucker said the number fluctuates constantly, depending on who has paid his or her bill and when, and who hasn't. RMLD bills one town of the four it serves each week of the month and that some customers pay their bills on time, some a little late and some very late. According to 1994 figures provided by RMLD, Wilmington residents comprised 30 percent of the department's customers and accounted for 59 percent of RMLD's peak load.

Wilmington Finance Director Joseph Peters, who along with Assessor Humphrey "Skip" Moynihan was specifically named in the suit, was angered by word of the court's decision.

"I really think it's a little much for the town to be the collector for the electric light department," said Peters, who also serves as tax collector and will be responsible for collecting the unpaid bills owed RMLD that become tax liens. "I don't like the idea of collecting it," he added.

Peters, echoing the board of selectmen when it voted late in 1993 not to implement the lien statute, said he felt RMLD had not exhausted all their avenues for collecting the debts.

But RMLD's stance has been that the lien process is the avenue it travels to collect outstanding bills in the three other municipalities, Reading, North Reading and Lynnfield, it serves and that it is in fact the last step of a lengthy collection process.

Under the statute, the town assessor, in Wilmington's case Moynihan, would be forced to add outstanding RMLD bills to property tax assessments. Unpaid property tax bills can result in foreclosure on a home.

Moynihan is on vacation this week and could not be reached for comment. But Peters said that he will do as he is instructed. If Moynihan sends him tax commitments that include RMLD bills, he will collect them.

The lien statute was adopted by the RMLD in October of 1980, the same year the Legislature passed the measure. It has been used in the three other towns since that time. According to RMLD, Wilmington did enforce the statute during the early 1980's, but stopped doing so in 1990. After negotiations to have the town re-enforce the statute failed, RMLD filed suit in 1995.

"Since 1982, despite our requests, the town of Wilmington and town officials have consistently refused to implement the lien statute even after we offered to pay all administrative fees associated with carrying out the statute," Rucker said.

According to Rucker, the hearing itself lasted 15 minutes and was comprised of Wilmington Town Counsel Alan Altman and RMLD attorney Alan Posner of the Boston law firm Rubin & Rudman each presenting oral summaries of their arguments followed by questions from the judge. Most civil cases of this nature take very little time in court.

RMLD held up the statute for its argument. The town countered with arguments that the statute violates due process rights because disputes are likely to arise between the town and RMLD or between the town and residents; and that problems could arise out of competing priorities as between locally-imposed liens (water and

by Jeff Nazzaro

Wilmington Police discovered what appear to be human remains off Ballardvale Wednesday morning, according to Deputy Chief Bernard Nally.

"We at this point don't know what it is or was," Nally said.

An employee of a company near the site, located adjacent to the Wilmington Sons of Italy property now owned by Frito-Lay, Inc., saw some clothes, according to Nally, became alarmed and called police at around 9:30. A responding officer then found the remains further into the woods at the site.

The remains are believed to be human, but Nally said police did not know if they were male or female. Nally, who said he saw the remains, refused to comment on their condition.

Police here have called in a forensic anthropologist from the state medical examiner's office and hoped that that person would arrive by late Wednesday afternoon. As of 2:00 Wednesday, the remains were still in the woods off Ballardvale and Nally said police had sealed off the area.

"Right now we can't do a thing until she gets there and does her investigation," Nally said.

Two killed in crash

by Jeff Nazzaro

Two teens were killed early Sunday morning on Shawsheen Avenue in Wilmington when their car struck a tree and flipped over.

Eric Magnuson, 19, of 18 Christian Dr., Billerica was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident. A passenger in the back seat of the car, Sherri A. Blamire, 15, of 25 Dewey Ave., Tewksbury, was airlifted to Massachusetts General Hospital where she died of injuries sustained in the crash. A second passenger, Daniel DeLuca, 19, of 11 Mitchell Rd., Billerica, riding in the front passenger seat, sustained injuries and was treated and released.

Police found beer bottles in the 1996 Volkswagon Golf Magnuson was driving and suspect he had been drinking but do not know what his condition was. They are still awaiting positive results from the state medical examiner's office.

The accident occurred just after Magnuson passed two vehicles, both driven by friends of his, on Shawsheen Avenue, just before the Billerica line.

Walter Emerson, 19, of 12 Canterbury St., Billerica, was driving ahead of the other two vehicles in a Ford Mustang before Magnuson passed. After the crash, Emerson slammed on his brakes and avoided the wreckage. But Michael Raynor, 21, of 48

Pinehurst Ave., Billerica, hit Emerson's car with the pick-up truck Raynor was driving.

Neither Emerson nor Raynor are said by police to have had anything to do with the fatal accident involving Magnuson.

"Technically, they had nothing to do with the fatal accident," Deputy Chief Bernard Nally said.

Emerson fled the scene and was later cited by Wilmington Police with leaving the scene of a personal injury accident, a criminal offense.

Raynor was arrested on-scene and charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol.

Chase ends in Wilmington

by Jeff Nazzaro

A high speed chase originating in Lexington last Thursday afternoon came to a halt on Woburn Street in Wilmington when a car smashed into a tree.

The vehicle's three occupants were arrested on stolen motor vehicle charges and then taken to Winchester Hospital, where they were treated for minor injuries.

Robert Griffin, 29, of 31 Green St., Bridgewater, Thomas Griffin, 28, of 284 Old Colony Ave., South Boston, and Kerry Mahoney, 20, of 19C Old Colony Way, Charlestown, were all arrested and charged with receiving a stolen motor vehicle. Robert Griffin, the driver of the vehicle, was additionally charged with failing to stop for a police officer, driving to endanger and operating a motor vehicle after suspension of license.

All three were arraigned Friday in Woburn District Court. Robert Griffin plead guilty to all charges against him and was sentenced to one year committed in the Billerica House of Correction. The cases of Thomas Griffin and Mahoney have been continued.

Police say the chase began in Lexington and moved onto Route 128, where State Police became involved. The suspects got off on Washington Street in Woburn and made their way onto West Street in Wilmington, where police were waiting.

Two Wilmington cruisers formed a road block on Woburn Street, but the suspect got around it, according to police. Wilmington Police then gave chase. That chase ended when Robert Griffin lost control of the car, which struck a tree. No Wilmington cruisers were damaged in the chase.

Wilmington Police Officer Joe Waterhouse pats down Kerry Mahoney after arresting her at the scene of the crash, following a four town chase involving police from four towns and the state police.

I-93 will be closed

Interstate 93 will be closed down for a few minutes on Sunday morning to allow Reading Light Department to remove some power lines that cross the highway by the West Street bridge.

Between 7 and 7:30 a.m. Sunday the Mass Highway Dept. will shut down the highway and the on-ramp from Route 129 to Interstate 93 south.

It's YOUR Money

BY JOYCE BRISBOIS
Certified Public Accountant

DO YOU TRUST YOUR KIDS?

Placing assets in the name of children and grandchildren is a time honored method of reducing current taxes and trimming a future estate as well. Giving as much as $10,000 per recipient per year ($20,000 if giving jointly with a spouse), an individual can shift assets and their current income and- choosing wisely with an eye to the child's age and income bracket - pay little or no taxes on it.

One caveat: money in a Uniform Gift to Minors Act account belongs to the child as soon as he or she reaches the age of majority, 18 in many states. To keep control of the assets, place them in a trust under the control of a "friendly" trustee. Or the donor, as general partner can set up a family partnership with the children as limited partners. Income generated by a trust can be paid to the children or accumulated for them. And to pull even more out of the estate, pay a grandchild's college tuition - even over $10,000 a year but gift tax free - directly to the educational institution.

We'll help you give more to the family and less to Uncle Sam. Get the know how you need at

Kids! - need guidance

by Bill Conlon

One parent was heard to exclaim, after learning of yet another fatality on local roads in the past three weeks: "Kids!"

It is always tragic when someone is killed in a traffic accident, but it really hits home when a teenager dies as a result of poor driving. There is much wringing of hands and crying over the tragedy, for awhile...

Then the anguish fades away after a week or so, at least for those who did not lose a family member... until someone else's kid is killed on the road. Tragedy, forgetfulness, and yet another tragedy. The cycle continues.

Perhaps it is time for parents to do something, because the "kids" aren't.

Kids do stupid things, from inexperience, but they refuse to believe their actions are stupid. (We've all been there, haven't we?) Even on the road, where mistakes can quickly lead to tragedy, they still do stupid things. Kids learn from their experiences — both good and bad — but the learning curve in a traffic accident can be vertical, straight into the ground.

As famed pilot Chuck Yeager put it, the more hours a pilot spends in a cockpit, the better that pilot will be. Experience equals skill.

A kid with a fresh driver's license is not, by definition, an experienced driver. However, they believe they are superb drivers! Top notch!

Would you climb into a 747 if you knew the pilot had received his license just last month? Now, who is driving your daughter around town tonight?

You can't stop kids from doing stupid things, but you can get to know their friends' parents, have them home at a reasonable hour even if it's not a school night, and be a real grizzly bear when it comes to alcohol.

Stupidity can never be eliminated, but perhaps it can be limited.

Thanks guys, I'll see you on Thursday

by Jamie Pote

Whew! These past 10 or so days have been something. A week ago last Friday, I started off what would be an interesting, yet long week-and-a-half when I got five stitches above my eye when I got hit with a slap shot in my street hockey game. It took nearly four hours for my cut to get stitched up between two hospitals - well, three hours and 45 minutes waiting in the emergency room of one and 15 minutes to actually get the gash stitched at Winchester.

On about two hours sleep, I then took a two-hour trip with the Tewksbury Junior and Senior Little League teams the following day for their State Championship games in East Hampton, Mass. Even though it was a very long day, I felt as if I were a part of both teams, which amazingly both won state championships right after the other. I can't even describe how excited I was for them. Never before had any team in Tewksbury ever won a state championship in Little League and they had two on the same day. Nifty, huh?

That Monday morning, I traveled three hours to Bennington, Vt. with the Senior League squad to watch them play in a two-day best-of-three tournament. They swept Bennington, but I only was able to watch the first game because it was suspended to Tuesday afternoon. After seeing them win, I then got in my truck and traveled down I-95 for another two hours to see the 13-year old team in their one-game series against Bennington, VT. They too won easily.

At that point, both teams were now headed for the Eastern Regional Finals. The 13's were going to Nanuet, N.Y. (in Rockland County, just north of the city), while the Senior team was going a little farther - to West Deptford, N.J. So once again, I followed one of the teams and this time it was the Junior Team. I left on Saturday morning and came back on Sunday night - that way I got to see two games. They split the games, winning the first 10-0 and losing the second 9-2 to Tom's River, N.J. The majority of the N.J. team lost to Taiwan last year in the nationally televised Little League World Series final.

I have to admit, even though I was totally exhausted coming home on Sunday night, I had so much fun covering these teams over the past month or so - especially the past two weeks. I was able to get to know a few of the players and their parents and each and every one of them is really great. None of the parents seemed like the typical Little League moronic parents who make fun of every player but their own. I will also admit that I was very nervous watching the games because I wanted to see both teams do as well as they could. Both teams are still playing in the double elimination tournaments. The Seniors lost their first game and won their next two.

I told both teams that if they made it to the championship game, I would make the trip. If neither team makes it, so what, look at what they have accomplished? If one of the two teams makes it, great. But if both teams make it, I'm in a lot of trouble. But then again, wouldn't that be something.

It's pretty weird that nearly two weeks ago I was staring at the clock for three hours waiting to have my cut sewed up, wondering what else could go wrong. I'm a total klutz - just last year I broke my ankle playing softball and before that I have broken both arms, a thumb, have had stitches in my elbow and forehead, not to mention a bad back and two terrible knees. And while I waited in the hospital, I kept thinking that a needle was about to go in my head and how I had to get up in a few hours for what would be a 12-hour, very long day. Not what I would have wished for.

But, little did I know, I only could have wished for what I witnessed on Saturday. Both teams won and getting in at 4:00 a.m. and getting back up at 6:00 was worth every second and every minute of it. I have now witnessed four state championship teams of some kind and these two were just as good if not better than the two high school teams I witnessed. And the trips to Vermont and New York put the icing on the cake for me (and getting the chance for a short vacation) and this summer. The past few years have dragged for sports coverage during the hot summer days, but this one will certainly be one to remember.

I want to thank and congratulate each of the players for not only displaying their talents and winning all of these games, but for making it easy and fun to cover them - these two teams will always be in my top highlights of covering sports in Tewksbury and Wilmington. Each of the players made me feel like a member of the teams and I want to thank them for that. I also really would like to thank all of the coaches of the two teams - especially head coaches Tony Ganchi (Junior) and Tom Sullivan (Senior) for everything they have done for me. Both of them are fantastic people, let alone coaches. And both of them made it very easy not to feel uncomfortable traveling with the teams.

Guys, I'll see you on Thursday. If not, I hope you enjoyed this summer as much as I did.

Points to remember

Dear Larz:

On behalf of the entire Tewksbury Girls' Recreation Basketball League, I would like to take the opportunity to say "Thank You" to the entire TMHS Lady Redmen basketball team for conducting a summer basketball camp for our recreation basketball program.

Head coach Leann Babine and each Lady Redmen has made a long term, personal impact on 70 young Tewksbury residents. The entire camp staff volunteered their time for the week to conduct the camp. The Lady Redmen were camp instructors, there to provide the participants with the opportunity to improve their basketball skills and overall knowledge of the game.

The outcome of the camp far exceeded the expectations! Each of the participants was overwhelmed by the kindness, affection, and generosity that each instructor brought to camp. The participants clearly learned a lot more than the game of basketball. Each participant personally gained from the camp experience and developed a tremendous appreciation for their instructors' commitment and contribution.

The Lady Redmen, who are not much older than many of the camp participants, were seen as role models and leaders, both on and off the basketball court. The camp participants learned that their instructors were not just great basketball players. They learned that inside that basketball uniform was an even greater person, a high quality individual who really cares.

The Lady Redmen may not score a basket on every possession; but every time the Lady Redmen touch the ball, they are scoring points for every member of the community. Points that do not show up on the scoreboard; points that last forever.

Las Vegas has more to offer than you know

Dear Larz:

This letter is regarding Jeff Nazzaro's July 10 column in the Town Crier.

As a former Wilmington resident for 35 years, a Las Vegas resident of 10 years, and now a Boulder City resident, I must say I'm insulted to read his article about Las Vegas, in which he infers that the people of Las Vegas do not celebrate Independence Day.

If you had picked up a daily newspaper you would have had a page full of things to do to celebrate the 4th of July. Also, if he would have come out of Caesars Palace before four a.m. he would have seen the fireworks.

By the way, why would anyone stay up until four a.m. for a hot dog? Don't you still have them there? Most hotels offer a prime rib dinner for under $5. You can get breakfast 24 hours a day for 99 cents.

We do not all live on the strip. We have beautiful residential areas, hundreds of parks, the Boulder Dam, Lake Mead, Mt. Charleston, Red Rock Canyon, just to name a few.

The fire department has a grand fireworks display every year. My grandson went to one of Las Vegas' hotel fireworks display and had a great time (the fireworks cost that particular hotel approximately $200,000).

Las Vegas has more to offer than you know. Having two sons and families living in Las Vegas and one son and family still living in Wilmington, I feel I know the best of both places. My granddaughter is a cocktail waitress in one of the Las Vegas hotels and she never wanted to be a showgirl.

I will be in Wilmington in August for my grandson's wedding. Maybe I'll bring him a list of places to go and things to do. If he's lucky enough to ever visit Las Vegas again.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Rita Longo
Boulder City, NV

(Mrs. Longo:

Thank you for your response to my column. Of course the perceptions of a former resident and those of a tourist trying to make a few people chuckle will differ - it's tough to get a good feel for any city in just a few days, especially while on vacation.

And in the end, while you all do not live on the strip, the strip is the only place we all go and really the only reason that wonderfully unique oasis known as Las Vegas exists.

I hope I do get a chance to go back, but if I do, I probably won't be hanging out at the lake or in the mountains - we have New Hampshire for that - Ed.]

Tewksbury

Wheelchair bound resident Harold MacDonald was pictured gazing at the steps of town hall, where a gathering was held to announce the formation of a Handicapped Access Committee. Because there was no ramp, MacDonald had never been inside his own Town Hall.

Jack Cuchinski, Denise Sullivan, Bop DiPietro, Sal Marino, Diane

Buckley, Elena Powers, Lou Carciofi and William Emerson were named to sit on the citizens' group to discuss the handicapped accessibility of the town's public buildings.

Marine Sgt. Charles D. Spurrell of Carter Street participated in the International Naval Review in New York Harbor as part of the Statue of Liberty Centennial celebration.

The Local Scene

From Tewksbury to Nashville, Fleury's chase a dream

by Jeff Nazzaro

Wayne and Paul Fleury are always on the lookout for a hit - the next "Achy Breaky Heart" sung by the next Billy Ray Cyrus, or what have you. The cousins and close friends formed a song-writing duo a couple years back and since have looked nowhere but ahead. Actually, in the ultra-competitive market that is country music, Wayne and Paul will gladly settle for a produced song that doesn't necessarily top the charts.

"We probably have a better chance a getting a song produced than winning the lottery," Wayne said from the single-room studio in his Tewksbury home where he and his cousin write and record what they hope will be the next big thing.

The "probably" in his summation is tinged with only a little sarcasm. In reality, the odds might just be about the same, though truth be told, having a song produced in most cases would not be as lucrative as a Megabucks strike.

But these two talented song-smiths have entered the topsy-turvy music market with all four feet firmly on the ground, both heads level and the can't lose circumstance of doing something they both happen to love. A lot.

"All we can lose is postage," Wayne said, with Paul adding "Plus we have fun making our own demos."

The two musician/songwriters come from a family where listening to and performing country music ran like a wayward skiff down the Mississippi - even if all this was going down on the Merimack.

"We like country. Our family was raised on country," said Paul while pointing out a cheerful black-and-white photograph on the studio wall oozing nostalgia and young men in cowboy hats. The photo was taken in Lowell, where the family, if not a lot of country musicians, comes from.

But the duo has stuck to its roots, even in a place not firmly rooted with those traditions, a reality Wayne admits has drawbacks sometimes.

"This is a tough market for country but bigger than it ever was," he said.

It was with a couple of other family members that Wayne and Paul first started a band. But when all was said and done with that, only Paul and Wayne remained, and they've played and written together ever since.

Near the end of 1992, they decided to get serious about landing a song on someone's album. Their first action was to call BMI (you've seen it a hundred times on albums, it stands for Broadcast Music, Inc. and is a major song licensing agency - the other big one is ASCAP). BMI suggested they purchase a "Songwriter's Market" book, an extensive listing of record producers, song publishers and record companies with advice on how to pitch them your songs. They did. Then they spent the next three years writing and recording, working hard.

In June of 1995 the pair sent out about 20 four-song demo cassettes produced in the Tewksbury studio with Wayne mostly singing and playing bass, Paul on guitars and a computer supplying the drums.

Wayne, with a carpentry background, and Paul, a kitchen draftsman by trade, had a couple years earlier converted a small storage room in the basement of Wayne's house into what Wayne's wife Laura subsequently called "A long time dream in motion" - Aldim Studios.

It was on a visit to Bruce Bennett's Kashmir Studios in Wilmington that the inspiration to create his own creation center first struck Wayne Fleury.

"I said 'this is it - I know what I want to do,'" Wayne recalled.

And he did it. And from there, he and Paul did what they wanted to do next, which was record demos.

Over the next nine-and-a-half months after they had sent those demos out came the letters, bearing a succession of politely phrased rejections - not accepting new material/writers at this time, thanks but no thanks, we've gone out of business.

And then, after they had taken their eyes off the kettle, the water finally boiled - or at least got a little warm. The letter came from West Virginia and a small song publisher who could end up bearing the ticket to big dreams.

The publisher, who would take a 50 percent whack of whatever's left over after a song is published, has a direct link to a song plugger in Nashville. That plugger is now trying to sell two Fleury originals - "Diddlelee Bop Bop Doo" and "I Can't Live in My House Anymore". As a result, both are currently being held by two record producers.

The song being held in highest regard right now is "I Can't Live", which the authors describe as "typical country", their intention to begin with. It is a traditional, perfectly mapped out country song with all the elements in place and that sweet and slow two-step beat.

And the key element, as Wayne and Paul will tell you, is theme. What would people be interested in hearing? they ask themselves and then craft either a sad, serious song or a tongue-in-cheek, almost corny ditty.

"I Can't Live" is of the latter variety, using the "losin' it all" - the pick-up, the wife, the kids, the job - country blues approach. Actually it was Laura who supplied the tongue-in-cheek, when, while trying in vain amidst a sea of guitars, amps, microphones and cords to do her laundry she exclaimed in frustration "I can't live in my house anymore."

Not totally sympathetic but always on the lookout for new material, the boys thought it over and quickly concluded "Hey, that's a good line."

"Diddlelee" is a quicker, 50's style rockabilly jaunt with a modern country flair, a fast two-step beat and a crazy title ("crazy titles can get you some recognition," Wayne reported. This one came from the lack of a better word, sort of like Phil Collins' "Sussudio").

With two songs on hold, at least 20 more in the can and "more ideas than we have time to record," Wayne and Paul still write, still record and still wait for that big break. They are bringing in a female vocalist, Karen Snyder of Wilmington to give themselves a new angle and the talented Snyder a listen from Nashville record execs.

In the meantime, Wayne will record demos for other musicians at his studio. With a small operation, he will produce as little as one cassette for a musician, at a reasonable cost (the studio can be reached at 658-7501).

Someday though, if all things fall together right, Wayne would like to sit with his cousin Paul in their tuxedos at the Country Music Awards and hear their names called for Song of the Year.

Paul, for the time being, is content to fantasize about going into a record store, buying a CD and seeing his and Wayne's names in parentheses under a song title.

Both agree, it's a nice dream to have.

Block parties are becoming the rage. This weekend the good folks on Catherine Ave in Wilmington got permission to block the street and invited the neighbors. Here Corey McCann dishes up a bunch of steamers for John Roman. "Wait 'til Next Year!" was heard as plans for the second annual expanded to include more neighbors.

Superintendent McGrath's year end report

The Tewksbury Public Schools recently completed the fourth year of the school department five year strategic plan. This plan includes goals for the district in the areas of curriculum and instruction, community involvement and school organizations. The Tewksbury School Committee, faculty, staff and administration has met many of the five year goals. I am pleased to report on those goals which were met during the 1995-96 school year.

Curriculum and Instruction

A plan was written to align the middle school curriculum with the Mass. Dept. of Education Curriculum Frameworks. The plan has been implemented and the faculty has begun the process of developing learning standards for each course within the middle school curriculum. A primary focus of the curriculum work has been on developing students' writing skills and improving test score performance on the Mass. Educational Assessment Program.

A unified writing committee was established, a new writing program was piloted and daily writing exercises were included in the lesson plans for teachers at all levels.

The curriculum work in the science area continued. A new science program was instituted at the elementary and the middle school levels. A new grade nine science program was developed for implementation in September of 1996 and the district work with the Partnership for the Advancement of Learning in Math and Science (PALMS) progressed with the production of a video documenting the work of the PALMS Leadership Team and the continued training of teachers in the PALMS philosophy during the summers of 1995 and 1996.

Other efforts in the curriculum area included the implementation of a new elementary health program and an alternative math lab at Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Community involvement

The school district continued to increase the active involvement of parents and community members in our schools. A marketing packet was developed and distributed to area realtors and prospective residents of the community who requested information about our schools. A Business Educational Advisory Council was formed to guide the work of the newly established School to Career Program. The results of the district wide parent survey were compiled and a report was presented to the Tewksbury School Committee. The purpose of the survey was to gauge the degree of parent satisfaction with the school system and to identify areas of future improvement. Survey results indicated a high degree of satisfaction with the current program and a request for additional work in the area of gifted and talented education.

School organization

The development of a housing plan to meet the growing enrollment was the focal point of our work in this area. The short term plan involved in redistricting of students from the North Street and the Trahan Schools to the Dewing and the Heath Brook Schools and the transfer of the system wide Integrated Preschool Program from the Heath Brook to the Ella Fleming School. The long term plan was addressed through the establishment of a School Building Committee at the Annual Town Meeting. This Committee is developing the preliminary plans for a new elementary school.

The district implemented a new teacher evaluation instrument. The primary goals of the instrument are to promote professional growth among the faculty and to continue to improve student learning.

The 1995-96 school year was both positive and productive. Copies of the Year End Report are available at the Office of the Superintendent, 139 Pleasant St., Tewksbury. The School Committee approved the goals for the 1996-97 school year at its meeting of July 22. These goals will frame the fifth and final year of the Five Year Strategic Plan. We look forward to meeting the challenge of reaching these goals and continuing to provide the students of Tewksbury with a high quality education.

It was all this and yes, a bag of chips for Carlie Lawrenson of Wilmington at the Wilmington Police Assoc./Wilmington Rec. Dept. Silver Lake Beach Day last Thursday. Carlie did get the bag open (photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

Bits & pieces

Birthdays

Mark Conway of Claire Street, Tewksbury, will turn another page on August 11 and will share his special day with Steve Stella of McNeil Way.

August 12 will mark the special day of Mary Paulsen of Church Street, Wilmington and Ann Styles of Jones Avenue.

At least two area residents will be observing birthdays on August 14, Judy Lane of Shawheen Street, Tewksbury and Carl Malenchini of Aldrich Road.

Reading

(MPS) There is no big secret to doing well in school. In order to succeed, you need to pay attention in class, do your homework every day and study hard. While these simple actions will certainly go a long way towards helping you become an "A" student, there is a little something else that can give you an edge from the first day of class to the final bell — organization.

By properly organizing yourself with the help of an organizing system, you stand a chance of not only knowing when your math test will be given, but actually preparing for it ahead of time. In fact, you can easily mix and match personal appointments with assignment due dates, so you'll never miss another school dance or basketball game because you forgot that English paper is due tomorrow.

The most important thing to remember in choosing an organizing system is personalization. Even the best intentions turn sour when you are forced to conform to someone else's way of doing things, so select a method or system that allows you the freedom to be you. Today, there are a number of ways to keep personal information easily accessible. You even have a choice of organizing manually or electronically, but be aware of the advantages and disadvantages that each presents.

(MPS) If your child suffers from sinusitis — an inflammation of the nasal cavities, located above, behind and below the eyes — reading, writing and arithmetic may be the last thing on his or her mind. Of the 35 million Americans who suffer from sinusitis each year, more than 5 million are under the age of 18. Unfortunately, because the condition is often misdiagnosed as a lingering cold or allergy, countless school days are lost each year.

"The most common cause of sinusitis in children is an unresolved cold or upper respiratory infection. The child catches a cold, and then for weeks suffers from symptoms of nasal congestion, coughing and sneezing. Unless the cold symptoms are properly treated, a sinus infection will develop. This can lead to loss of sleep and missed days at school," says Michael Kaliner, M.D., president, American Academy of Allergy and Immunology.

the abc's of sinusitis

Some symptoms of sinusitis are similar in both adults and children, including nasal congestion, nasal discharge and fever. However, symptoms that are more prevalent in children include:

- Nighttime cough.
- Earache.
- Bad breath.

Organize Those School Days

sents.

If you select one of a number of computer-software organizer programs, then just beware that if you forget your locker combination and you're not near your computer, you're out of luck. While these systems are fast and, for the most part, easy to use, they are not very portable. You'll generally need to write down the day's activities and schedules, then transfer them to your PC after school.

Portable electronic organizers are capable of storing phone numbers, memos, dates and other general information.

Some even allow you to transfer information to your PC via an uplink. However, keep in mind that electronic organizers are just that, electronic, and do require batteries for power, so make sure that any system you select has a memory backup. Also, most electronic organizers are not flexible in how the data is entered or presented, and there is always the danger that your information can be lost if the system crashes.

Personal organizers that utilize a ring binder and paper inserts offer the most flexibility in organizing your life. For instance, Filofax Organizers, available in personal and pocket sizes, offer a wide selection of inserts and accessories that enable you to create a truly unique personalized organizing system. Each Filofax comes with a five-subject index, week-to-view diary, white-ruled paper, name/address/telephone sheets and even credit-card pockets and a pen loop. And the specially-priced student line has made owning a Filofax possible on a student's budget.

According to Tony Murray, Filofax president, "The student-line Filofax gives students all the advantages of the top-of-the-line Filofax Personal Organizers. Designed with an emphasis on choice, variety and flexibility, the student-line Filofax can be used with the same wide selection of inserts and accessories, available for any Filofax." He adds, "User-friendly and very affordable, the student-line Filofax has become an increasingly important tool to students across the United States, Europe and Japan."

Regardless of which route you travel on your way to organization, one thing is certain — the road to higher education is much smoother if you remember where you are going and how to get there.

Get to the Head of the Class

• Loss of sense of smell.

In addition, allergies, dental problems, chlorinated water in swimming pools and especially secondhand cigarette smoke can cause sinusitis or exacerbate an existing condition. In fact, secondhand cigarette smoke is the most potent environmental pollutant responsible for sinusitis in children.

treatment 101

The three goals of sinusitis treatment are:

1. Control infection.
2. Reduce swelling and clear the sinus openings.
3. Ensure that sinuses stay unclogged and infection free.

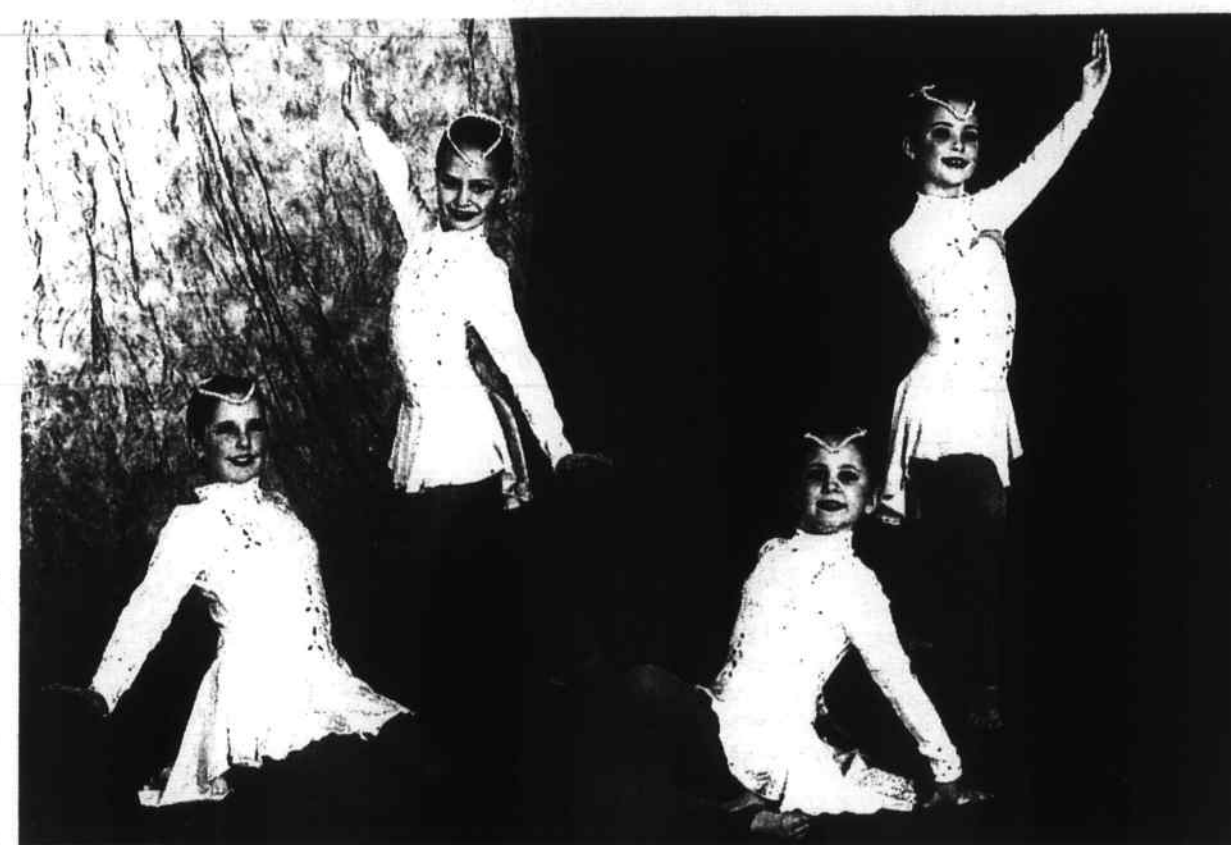

To achieve these outcomes, your child's physician may prescribe a course of pediatric strength medications, including antibiotics to sterilize the sinuses and free them of infection; decongestants (e.g., Deconal®) to reduce mucosal swelling and promote draining; and/or an expectorant (e.g., Humibid® D.M.), to clear excess phlegm or mucus. To treat symptoms of allergic rhinitis, such as sneezing and itchy, watery eyes, which are commonly associated with sinusitis, an antihistamine (e.g., Atrohist®) may be prescribed.

Some pediatric strength medications (e.g., Deconal, Humibid D.M., Atrohist) are available as capsules which can be opened and sprinkled on small amounts of soft food immediately prior to ingestion, which is ideal for children, who may have trouble swallowing capsules or tablets.

In many cases, physicians recommend a nasal lavage for sinusitis therapy. Although awkward at first, frequent irrigation (three to four times a day) with a saline solution washes out excess mucus and bacteria, reduces swelling and eases breathing.

Statistics show that September and October are big cold months for school children. So, if your child's cold lingers for more than 10 days, see your pediatrician. A proper diagnosis and effective treatment can enable him or her to pass the new school year with flying colors.

National Dance Team finalists from Tewksbury's Broadway Dance Academy returned as overall winners of the State Systems National Championships held in Myrtle Beach, SC. Both junior and senior teams received trophies and cash awards and were selected over thousands of participants to appear on the televised Superstar Championships, which will air on the Entertainment Network. Broadway Director Cindy Byrne was recipient of the teachers award for Junior Group Choreography. Additionally, the Broadway Dancers have been invited to perform in the Florida Citrus Bowl half time show. SCHOOL DAYS Are Here Again!

Practical Tips Help Relieve Children's Computer Eye Stress

(MPS) With computers becoming more prevalent at school and at home, parents and teachers can help reduce the stress video display terminals (VDT) may place on children's eyes, according to the American Optometric Association (AOA).

That stress can lead to symptoms of eyestrain, like headaches, blurred vision, itching or burning eyes, and eye fatigue. However, computers and children's eyes can be compatible. Here are some recommendations from AOA that can promote comfort and efficiency at the VDT:

- Strive for uniform lighting throughout the room, and have the child use a desk lamp to illuminate reference material.

- Eliminate reflected glare from windows and other light sources with shades, blinds or drapes.

- Adjust screen brightness to three or four times the brightness of room lighting.

- If the room lighting is hard to control, try using a glare screen over the VDT screen. Glare screens that feature the AOA Seal of Acceptance have been found to meet stringent standards for glare reduction and are readily available at business supply stores.

- Adjust computer equipment and furniture for children, so they can avoid using awkward head or body movements.

- Place reference material the same distance from the eyes as the VDT screen to avoid having to change focus when looking from one to another. Frequent focusing changes may promote tiredness.

- Place reference material as close to the screen as possible to minimize head and body movements. A copy holder mounted on the VDT or on the desk makes this easier to do.

- Make sure the child takes frequent rest breaks. Prolonged concentration on a computer screen may contribute to the development of eyestrain, AOA says.

Something else that can play an important part in healthy VDT habits, as well as continued success in school, is an annual eye examination, according to AOA. Children's eyes are under great stress from the usual close reading and writing work that makes up a big part of the school day, and the optometrist will make sure that the child's eyes are developing as they should and monitor any changes in vision.

Encouragement Builds Writing Skills

(MPS) Young children love to write poems, stories, riddles and jokes. However, in school, where most writing activities take place, children have a hard time writing anything.

Children enjoy writing at home because it is fun and they feel no pressure to receive a "good" grade on an assignment.

Because children seem to enjoy writing at home, parents need to encourage their children's writing skills. Once a child finds the joy in writing and practices at home, school writing exercises should become enjoyable as well.

Parents need to provide children with the proper supplies for writers of all ages. These supplies include the tools of the trade: paper, pencils, pens and, if available, a computer or typewriter. A comfortable and quiet place to write and enough time to write and let the mind and imagination wander should also be included. Children need this time to daydream and encourage creativity.

Your family's attitudes can help make writing natural and fun for children, rather than frustrating and difficult. Lay the foundation for a love of writing by reading and telling stories to your child. Children who listen to stories as they grow up develop a natural understanding of how sentences and ideas are put together and how narratives work. They tend to have an easier time understanding when these skills are "taught" to them in school.

Children who enjoy reading and want to make up their own stories are more eager to write on their own and for school assignments. To help prepare your child for a life-long love for reading, the Teachers & Writers Collaborative and The National Endowment for the Arts suggest trying the following steps.

- Read aloud to children, even when they are very little. Reading aloud offers a moment of intimacy with parents that brings about a good feeling about reading and books. Taking the time to read shows that you respect written words. Be sure to keep reading to your children, even after they learn to read on their own.

- Encourage children to read by taking them to the library. Even children who enjoy only simple books will move onto more advanced books as they mature. As a reward or present, give your child a book.

- Answer your child's questions and listen to their stories. If children don't think you care enough about what they say and the stories they tell, they will not feel confident enough to express themselves, either aloud or on paper.

Your response to your child's writing is extremely important. If you are proud and praise their written work, they will be proud of it and want to continue writing. Point out what you like about your child's writing. Praising their strengths instead of pointing out weaknesses is a much more effective measure to encourage writing. Be specific and honest when praising. If you comment on everything they write with the same compliments, the effect will be lost.

Praise what is unique and unexpected in your child's work. This will not only encourage individualism, but will help them view writing as a form of self-expression.

If you do criticize, always be very gentle. Introduce criticisms and concerns after some praise. If you are too critical of their words, they will find writing more difficult. The purpose is for children to enjoy writing, not to become a full-fledged author, yet. As long as they keep writing, the quality of work will improve.

For children just starting to write, don't be too pushy. Many children become afraid of failure due to pressure. They feel they must be a flawless writer the first time they pick up a pencil and are afraid of making spelling mistakes. Encourage them to write what they feel first, then review to check for spelling and grammar mistakes.

Once children feel confident in their ability to write well on their own, writing in school will seem like less of a task — and they'll actually enjoy writing and completing assignments. Students will receive better grades and feel less pressure, which will make the school year a lot easier and more fun.

Moore Employment Inc. • 200 Jefferson Rd., Wilmington • (508) 657-6000

Never a quiet moment! While trying to pose with one of the many computers for training, the clients just wouldn't stop calling. Answering the phone is owner Helen Moore, at the keyboard Carla DiBona with Barbara Steinbrecker looking on.

Especially during a slow and unpredictable economy, when a company's projected sales are soft, there may not be enough sales forecasted to warrant hiring regular permanent employees. However there are sales and production enough to warrant two to three months work, therefore, the use of temps is truly the best and most inexpensive way for companies to meet deadlines, etc. The company is relieved of costs to cover for vacations, medical leave, etc. Over the past 15 years Moore has helped hundreds of businesses save thousands of dollars for

*Advertising *Time recruiting *Interviewing *Testing *Checking references *Computer training *Layoffs *Co-pd benefits (Med, Dental, Life Ins., Pensions & FUTA contributions, SUTA, Mass State Health) Etc.

Moore's reasonable hourly bill rates cover all mandatory costs, above, including the temp's hourly bill rates cover all mandatory costs, above, including the temp's hourly wage; the temp is a Moore employee and Moore offers HMO medical insurance plus a variety of other benefits to its employees.

Small and expanding companies can eliminate the heavy recruiting recruiting for hiring permanent people by using the Moore Temp-to-Perm program. "We do all the work." For a specific opening, Moore provides their best person (a second if necessary); submit the resume, set up the interview. The qualified person accepts the assignment as temporary with the option of being hired permanently at a specified time with a small fee paid by the hiring company.

"Our records show over 500 people have been placed either directly or by the temp-to-perm method since Moore started in 1979." Just the past two months they've placed eight people into permanent jobs.

Today, the temporary has the best chance of getting hired if a company is the "hiring mode."

"We work very hard in our recruiting process, carefully making decisions in all temp placements as tough we were making a direct placement. This takes a great deal of time, effort, energy, costs, etc. We gladly accept this work! That's why we've been successful!! We know the value of the temp worker."

Since its opening, Moore-Temps has always provided people, not bodies. Moore's commitment to excellence and quality is meeting the customers' requirements at all times, and continually strives to exceed them whenever possible. Moore's priority is and always will be quality service personified!

Bereavement support group meets monthly

Renew, a bereavement support group for adults in the Greater Lowell, Merrimack Valley and Southern N.H. area, welcomes new participants who have experienced a loss recently or in the past.

"This informal coming-together can be most helpful to people who have lost a loved one," said Nancy Pettinelli, executive director of the Visiting Nurse Association and Hospice of Greater Lowell. "Renew provides an opportunity for professional grief education and counseling in a group setting with others who share a similar loss and the emotional roller coaster that often accompanies that experience."

The group meets the third Thursday morning of each month at 10 o'clock to 11:30. Renew enrollment is open to all, whether or not their family was VNA/Hospice affiliated.

For more information and directions to Renew meetings, call or write Marie Jennings, Hospice of Greater Lowell, 660 Suffolk St., Lowell, 01852 (508) 459-9343.

Hospice is a special kind of care provided by a team of doctors, nurses, social workers, home health aides, pharmacists, psychological and spiritual counselors and trained volunteers in cooperation with the patient who has a life limiting illness and the family. The Hospice goal is appropriate, competent and compassionate care in an environment of personal individuality, comfort, and dignity.

Battle of the Bulge reunion next month

The veterans of the Battle of the Bulge, Inc. (VBOB), will hold an annual reunion in Hyannis, Sept. 8-11. Reunions are held annually by VBOB to honor the Americans who served in the Battle of the Bulge and remember those who sacrificed their lives in this great battle.

VBOB is an international non-profit organization which is composed of members who served in the World War II battle which rebuffed Hitler's strongest offensive and turned the tide of the war, their friends and family members, and history buffs.

In its 15-year existence, VBOB has enrolled over 14,000 members.

It affords members the opportunity to renew and develop friendships, exchange information, and assist in initiating efforts to see that this battle is never forgotten.

The Battle of the Bulge has been called by many "America's greatest battle." It was fought in the bitter cold and snow of the heavily forested Ardennes area of eastern Belgium and northern Luxembourg from Dec. 16, 1944, through Jan. 25, 1995.

Six hundred thousand American soldiers fought in this great battle, which resulted in 81,000 casualties, including 19,000 killed. General Patton, while speaking to his generals on the strategy for the battle said, "If we live through this one, be forever grateful that you have brought with you one of life's greatest moments!"

In Hyannis a memorial plaque will be dedicated to all who served in the Battle of the Bulge. The memorial will be unveiled by Mrs. Jean E. Gavin, wife of General James M. Gavin, who was the youngest commander of an American division - the 82nd Airborne - one of the over 400 units that served in the Battle of the Bulge.

For more information, write to VBOB, P.O. Box 11129-P, Arlington, VA 22210-2129. (The office does not maintain military records.)

Wilmington library notes

Children's services librarian

Eileen Broderick, head of Children's Services at Wilmington Memorial Library will be leaving the library next week. Her knowledge of books and media, her professional reference skills, her enthusiasm, energy and warm personality will be missed by all who have known her over the past year. She would like to take this opportunity to say thank you and goodbye to the people of Wilmington. Mrs. Broderick has this to say to those she has served and worked with so well:

"Since my husband has accepted a position out of state, I regret that I need to leave Wilmington. This month I will be moving to Maine to be with my family. I have enjoyed meeting and working with the children and families of Wilmington. I will especially miss the 'Wild and Crazy Readers' and the young Story Hour participants. It has been a pleasure to work with the director and the library staff in a position that I find so enjoyable. Thank you for making my stay in Wilmington a wonderful one."

Craft programs end

On Wednesday, July 31, 26 children took part in the final story and crafts program of the summer. After listening to stories about painting, the children created scratch board pictures. Led by Assistant Children's Librarian, Susan MacDonald, the children learned the technique of designing their masterpieces with crayons and forks.

Weekly reader contest

The Imagination Station weekly reader contest will continue through the last week of school vacation. Summer reading folders contain the coupons to enter the weekly drawing. By completing a sentence beginning with the word "imagine," the children have a chance to win a prize. All the completed entries are available for children and adults to read by way of the slot in the bottom of the Imagination Station. Answers have ranged from imagine a world made out of ice cream to imagine being in the Olympics. Stop by the Children's Room and read some of the creative answers.

Parts store opens in Tewksbury

Western Auto's Parts America has come to Tewksbury with the recent opening of a new store located at 1777 Main Street. A grand opening celebration was scheduled for Wednesday, July 31. This is part of a major national expansion, as the company is in the process of adding more than 200 stores nationally, to be completed during the few months.

"This 10,000 square foot store represents a significant investment in the community," said John Leach, president and chief executive officer of Western Auto, Parts America's parent company. "This store will provide customers with a choice of more than 100,000 auto parts for domestic and import vehicles."

Parts America is part of the Western Auto family, offering a comprehensive assortment of high quality auto parts in a customer friendly environment. Christopher Harrington has been named general manager, and E.J. Merrill is the store manager. The Tewksbury store employs nine associates.

Customers will also benefit from Western Auto's buying power. The store offers the Parts America Low Price Guarantee which means customers can expect low prices on auto parts every day.

"Customers want a broad selection of auto parts and they also demand high quality customer service and advice," said Leach. "With the new Parts America store, we will provide customers with one stop shopping convenience, helpful information and low prices. This store contains just about everything a customer might want to solve a car repair or maintenance problem."

The first Parts America opened in Butler, Pa. in early 1994. Since then, the stores have gained in popularity. There are now more than 250 Parts America stores operating in 20 states.

The expansion of Parts America is linked to America's increasing demand for high quality auto parts. There are more vehicles per American household today than at any other time in history because consumers are holding onto their vehicles longer. More than 30 percent of the cars owned in this country are at least 10 years old.

Parts America accepts Discover, SearsCharge, Mastercard, Visa and American Express charge cards, as well as the Western Auto card. The new store will be open 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Western Auto Supply Company currently manages 250 Parts America stores, more than 390 Western Auto company owned stores and 900 Western Auto associate stores from its headquarters in Kansas City. It is a wholly owned subsidiary of Sears Roebuck and Co. Western Auto was founded in 1909 as a mail order house selling parts for Model-T Fords.

sewer charges, or property taxes) and the electricity lien, Judge Hiller Zobel summarized.

Zobel sided with the statute, writing that it "seems to furnish a clear answer ..." and that "neither of [the town's] objections seems substantial." After that, Zobel ordered the town to impose and enforce the lien statute.

Writing in further support of his decision, Zobel stated Wilmington was not required to use RMLD's services but that in doing so "imports a willingness to accept the reasonable conditions of the sale" and that the statute falls under those reasonable conditions. He also states that "disagreement, even (in our litigious society) of court proceedings, inheres in any business relationship."

The town still has the right to appeal. Assistant Town Manager Jeff Hull said that Town Manager Michael Cairra would discuss an appeal with Altman and then take the matter to the board of selectmen, which would make the decision to appeal or adhere to the decision. Cairra is on vacation this week and could not be reached.

"St E's" to help Food Pantry

St. Elizabeth's Chapel and the Wilmington Food Pantry are joining forces this year at the annual St. Elizabeth's Kids Fun Day scheduled for Saturday, August 24.

As part of the Wilmington community, along with their commitment to children, St. Elizabeth's has sponsored the Fun Day for three years; this will be the fourth. St. E's as it is commonly called, feels strongly about its commitment to outreach within and for the community as well. To that end, a new feature will be added this year. Members of the Wilmington Food Pantry will be present at the Fun Day with a banner and box. Any child taking non-perishable food item(s) to the fair will receive one free ticket (one per child) and many, many thanks.

The Food Pantry is generally heard of during the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. It is St. E's hope that by their presence at an August event people will realize that the pantry is in need of food and community support all year.

Connie Perlin is serving as Co-chairman of the event. She may be reached for information or to offer suggestions at 658-5243 or call Food Pantry representative Bob DiPalma at 658-5107.

Wilmington senior topics

Christmas Fair

Now that the month of August has arrived the seniors in all classes are energized working on articles to fill their tables at the Christmas Senior Fair. They would welcome any and all seniors to join their classes to help complete all the articles they are working on. The classes this week that need more hands to complete their projects include the art class from 1 to 3 p.m. Monday; Shop class from 9 a.m. to noon on Tuesday. The students in this class are making small wooden toys. At the present time, they are in the process of working on a small wooden toy airplane. Drop in and learn how to make the plane, after you make one for the fair, you will have time before Christmas to make one for yourself or a grandchild.

Thursday morning the ceramics class is held from 9 to noon. The group is working on a Christmas village. Again all the classes are free and a terrific way to learn a hobby to keep your mind active and healthy. It is also a good way to meet new friends.

Fill your days

After retirement, don't stay home and vegetate before the tv; become depressed with no job to go to that had to be filled, the hours of what you see now are empty with nothing important to do. To fill your days is what your Senior Citizen Center is all about.

Whist begins Monday

On Monday whist will be held in the center starting at 1 p.m. For some time we have had only a few players in the game. It may be because the room is very large. When the games started we had many players, as we moved in bingo most of them preferred that game more than whist. We can try having the whist game moved to the kitchen where seniors can enjoy a cup of coffee and a donut while playing. More seniors may come to learn how to play whist. We can try it; you may enjoy it.

Nutrition class

On Tuesday, August 13 the nutrition class of the month will be held in the craft room from 9:30 to noon. Weighins begin at 9:30 with the class starting promptly at 10. If you have not had a chance to visit this class, drop in and ask as many questions as you have about the class, instructed by Jean Webster. She will try to answer all of them, especially why we should watch our nutritional intake.

Shine on Wednesday

On Wednesday, August 14, Barbara Hooper, Shine volunteer will be in the nurse's room to help seniors with insurance problems. If you have been troubled with the questions, "should I or shouldn't I change my present insurance coverage with either AARP, Blue Cross, Prudential, or any other type of coverage you now have to an HMO," Barbara will help you. She will also help if you have been wrongly billed for medical treatment one had received or did not receive. Also if you had paid a bill and are continually receiving demand notices from a collection agency, Barbara will try her best to help you with the problem you may have.

Hearing aid specialist

Also on Wednesday, Aug. 14, the hearing aid specialist will be in the nurse's room starting at 1 p.m. He will be checking the hearing of seniors and hearing aids for proficiency. This is also a free service, provided through the Elder Services Dept. On the same day, the monthly sing-a-long will be held in the function room, under the leadership of Dot Phillips, starting at 1. Before you start to exercise your vocal cords in song, you can take a bag lunch and socialization with other seniors while eating in the kitchen. Seniors at the piano for the sing-a-long will be Dot Phillips, Joe Cieri and Gil Smith, if they are available and playing the harmonica will be Ernie Seitz. To sing with a group is excellent therapy to keep healthy. Stay healthy and join the songs you love with the others on the 14th.

Harvard Cooperative

Harvard Cooperative Program on Aging research doctors are trying to learn as much as they can about medical illnesses causing the death of so many elderly persons. At the present time they are concentrating on Parkinson, Alzheimer and Cardiovascular diseases. They are interested in relatively healthy 60-75 year old seniors. The research will be on blood pressures connections with Parkinson's Alzheimer and cardiovascular diseases and estrogen on cholesterol. All of these research project come with a payment at the completion of the study. If interested call 671-325-8000 ext 557.

Needed

The Center is in dire need of canes, tub seats and wheel chairs. If you have any of these articles you are not using, we would certainly appreciate your donation of it to the Center. If you have been loaned a medical article mentioned above and no longer need, it, could you return it, so we can loan it to another.

Share

Any senior who is doing any community volunteer work can qualify for the Share Food Program. What is this program? It is not a government program. It is a non profit community organization, offering nutritious food packages ($25-$35 value) to anyone for $14; plus two hours of volunteer work. For more information call Dorothy Butler 658-4252 or Grace Rosa 657-8240.

Mike Willcox fouls off a ball for the Wilmington Suburban Pony League team in a recent game played at Wilmington High School.

Suburban Pony League Action

One Bad Inning Wildcats Eliminated From Tourney

Eight teams eyed the championship as the Suburban Pony League playoffs opened at the WHS field on Thursday, August 1 with second-seeded Wilmington hosting the Reading Rockets.

A first round loss put the Wildcats in losers' bracket play, but they advanced to the final four as they proceeded to eliminate Wakefield and North Andover from the tournament. Unfortunately, a tough Lowell team ended Wilmington's hopes of making the finals.

Lowell will face the Reading Rockets in a loser's bracket game on Thursday at 5:30 at WHS. The winner of that game will meet undefeated Andover in the finals at Lowell's Alumni Stadium, on Saturday, August 10. If Andover Leading Wilmington's offense was Jim O'Donnell with 2 singles, Tom Southmayd - RBI double, and Ralph Sirignano - RBI single. Dan Sweet and Justin Vallas both added singles.

Wilmington 9 - N. Andover 2

Dan Sweet allowed 2 runs on 5 hits and 3 walks, and struck out 1 over 3 innings. But the real story was Ralph Sirignano (3-0) who came on in relief and pitched 4 innings of no-hit, shut-out ball to earn the victory.

Hustle paid off as N. Andover held Wilmington to only 4 hits but couldn't keep them off the bases as they scored 3 runs in the third, and 6 runs in the fifth.

Mike Willcox was Wilmington's offensive story - 2 singles, 2 RBI, 1 loses, a final game will be played at WHS on Sunday.

run scored. Mike Heffernan and Justin Vallas added singles.

Reading Rockets 8 - Wilmington 4

Reading scored early - and often - to beat Wilmington in the first game of the double-elimination playoff series.

The Wildcats posed their only threat in the fourth when they scored 3 runs on 3 hits - an RBI double by Matt Coyne, and singles by Ralph Sirignano and Rob Perkins. A third inning double by Dan Sweet was Wilmington's only other hit in the game.

Sweet (3-2) took the loss, going 3-plus innings and allowing 6 runs on 3 hits with 2 walks and 1 strike out. Ralph Sirignano pitched 4 strong innings in relief, allowing 2 runs on 4 hits and 2 walks.

Wilmington 3 - Wakefield 0

Pitcher Matt Coyne (2-1) was more than Wakefield bargained for as he allowed just 3 hits while walking 1 and striking out 2 on the way to his second victory and first shut-out of the season.

Lowell 7 - Wilmington 3

After two innings, each team had sent 8 men to the plate and both teams were hitless and scoreless. But in the top of the third, 9 Wilmington impostors took the field and Lowell sent 11 batters to the plate, scoring 6 runs on 1 hit and a miscommunication that turned an out into a bunt single, 4 walks, and 2 infield errors. Now, back to the real game.

Wilmington scored 2 in the fourth when Ralph Sirignano was hit by a pitch to lead off the inning and scored on Dave DeAmato's triple. DeAmato scored on an infield error. The Cats added one in the seventh as Mike Willcox walked, went to second on Tom Southmayd's single, was wild-pitched to third, and scored on a ground out. Lowell's only other hit of the game was a home run in the fourth.

Pat Heffernan (2-2) went the distance for Wilmington, allowing 7 runs on 3 hits, while walking 7 and striking out 2.

Wilmington A.S.A Softball teams causing havoc during summer

12 and under traveling

The Wilmington 12 and under softball team was the surprise of the Lowell Invitational Tournament a couple of weeks back when they captured the tournament title by winning four consecutive games.

The young lady Wildcats has a tough opening game loss to Taunton. After falling behind 6-0, they came back to tie the game 11-11 only to lose it in the seventh, 13-11. However, with no previous tournament experience the young ladies proceeded to rattle off the four straight victories with wins over Townsend (16-4), Prospect Hill of Lawrence (11-3), Pepperell (9-0), and Hudson, N.H., 18-6 to capture the weekend championship.

The following weekend the team traveled to Uxbridge to play the prestigious Uxbridge Classic where teams from all over Massachusetts are on display. After some early tournament defeats, again the team came back during the elimination round to stun some of the tournament favorites defeating such powerhouses Haverhill (8-7), Worcester (9-6) and avenging their previous loss to Taunton with a terrific 6-3 win - before eventually losing to tourney champ Swansea in the semifinal game.

The 12 and unders are a very young group with promise only to improve. Among the teams members are Jacqui Rubino, Sara Collings, Christy Johnson, Kim Thomas, Jen Gillis, Kristin Burns, Dawn Lemke, Lauren Crowley, Stacy Comer, Lauren Cushing, Katie Sullivan, Shannon Fahey and sisters Kelly and Kerry Gillis.

The team is coached by Jack Fahey, Frank Crowley and Mike Comer and is currently sporting a very good 16-6 record during summer play.

14 and under finish 2nd in states
The A.S.A. 14 and under softball team finished second out of 17 teams in the State Tournament two weeks ago in Lowell. The lady Wildcats defeated Pepperell (18-1), the Brats of Lawrence (3-1), Stoughton (4-2) and Taunton (6-0) before bowing to the Dracut Jaguars in the finals, (7-2).

Playing well for the girls were outfielders Lauren McCarthy and Maura Lynch, infielders Michele McGonagle, Coleen Cahill and Kristin Thomas along with pitcher Robin Mainini. Coming off the bench to add support were Nicole McIver, Katelyn Sugrue, Christina Downs and Candace Souza. Playing probably the best ball of the tournament was Megan Sullivan at second base.

The 14s have upcoming tournaments in Chelmsford and Taunton and should finish out with another strong summer of play.

WHS softball awards

The Wilmington High School girls varsity softball teams - 1996 Cape Ann League champs recently held their annual breakup cookout with various awards presented.

All the young ladies received hooded sweatshirts for their championship efforts along with certificates framed from the M.I.A.A. for their competing in the Division II North Final. Lisa Southmayd was presented awards as Player of the Year along with All-League Player trophy.

Also receiving All-League honors was Leanne Harris while Catherine Townsend and Melissa Mather were honored as Divisional All-Stars.

Bamberg golf tourney

The second annual Joe Bamberg Open Golf Tourney is to be held this year at Hickory Hall Golf Club in Methuen. The proceeds from this year's event will be donated to both the Bamberg family and to the Miami Project in Florida.

Joe Bamberg, who starred as a soccer goalie and is a member of the Wilmington High School Band was injured in a freak accident last summer.

The Miami Project, which was started by football great Nick Bounoconti after his son Mark was paralyzed while playing football, continues its cutting edge research with spinal cord injuries.

The lady Cats finished with a 20-4 record on the year and are looking forward to another good season next year with a strong nucleus returning.

Organizers are telling us this fun day of golf promises to be bigger and better than last year's event, and spots are filling up fast.

The tournament will again be a shotgun scramble format. There will be a hole-in-one prize, a brand new Honda Accord plus many more prizes and surprises with a fabulous dinner generously hosted by the Fiorenza family at the Casa di Fior in Wilmington to follow.

Anybody interested in golfing or helping out can contact John Bonish at Colonial Park Liquors, 658-0055, Desi Catena, 657-8349 or Mike Conrad at 957-6733. Reservations only; deadline is Aug. 31.

A closer look at the Tewksbury Junior National All-Star Baseball team

Favreau tosses two shutouts in early action

by Jamie Pote
Whenever Scott Favreau takes the mound for the Tewksbury Junior League All-Star Baseball team, it is assumed that if he is on his game, the opponents will not touch him. And it also appears that his teammates like it when he pitches as they have outscored its opponents 71-12 in tourney action when the right-handed hurler is on the hill.

Of Favreau's last four starts, three of them have been shutouts. And in those four games, Tewksbury has won: 16-1, 10-0, 10-0 and 6-0.

In the first game of the Eastern Regional Finals in Nanuet, New York, Favreau took the mound and he immediately set the tone for the game against Wallkill, New York. He struck out the first three batters in the top of the first inning, with none of the batters even coming close on his blazing fastball.

After Tewksbury didn't score in the bottom of the first, Favreau struck out the lead batter in the top of the second for four straight strikeouts. He got the side in order in the second and again in the third, to retire the first nine batters.

In Tewksbury's bottom half of the third inning, Mark Boudreau the lead off hitter for Tewksbury, got a long rally going as he walked on four pitches. Boudreau swiped second and he stayed there when a Favreau blooper landed over the shortstop's head. Jason Viega got hit by the pitch to load the bases. Jimmy Reinold, the clean-up hitter followed with a double inside first base down the right field line to bring in Boudreau and Favreau for a 2-0 lead.

That would be all Tewksbury needed, but they didn't want to settle for that as seven more runs came across the plate. Ryan Carlson continued the inning as he walked to load the bases back up again. Ryan Carrigan hit a chopper to third and he was safe at first on an infield single which scored Veiga making it 3-0. Danny Elliman hit a hard liner to left which dropped in for a single scoring Reinold and keeping the bases full. T.J. Forsythe followed with the third consecutive single which scored Carlson making it 4-0 and still the bases were loaded. Brian O'Hara followed and he had the hardest hit of the inning with a low liner that was caught by the shortstop Mike Henderson who doubled up Carrigan at third for a double play. Boudreau then came up for the second time in the inning and again he walked to load the bases back up. Favreau roped a single to center that got by the center fielder which cleared the bases on the error after the hit making it 8-0. Viega singled sending Favreau to third and the latter scored the last run of the inning on a passed ball.

With a comfortable 9-0 lead after three innings, Favreau lost his perfect game and his no-hitter as Ken McGuigan singled to center field, which became the second ball to bounce into the outfield off Favreau in his past four games. McGuigan took second on a wild pitch and third on a balk call and Henderson walked to have runners at the corners and no one out for Wallkill. Favreau then struck out Brian Newton. Erik Thompson walked to load the bases. The next batter Bruce Medress hit a slow grounder to Favreau at the plate who tossed the ball to Forsythe for the force play. The inning and the

MAKING INTELLIGENT PRICING DECISIONS

One of the most important questions you must answer when you decide to sell your home is -- "how much?". Some sellers want to base the price on what they paid for the property, plus the amount of return they would like to get on their initial investment, while others will base it on the amount they need to "net" in order to buy their new home. When pricing your home, the only thing that really matters is the state of your local real estate market. A professional Realtor will be able to guide you around the pricing pitfalls with a written market analysis, so you will know the selling prices for similar homes in your area.

Location, condition, and accessibility are the three important variables. While you can't change the location of your home, you can increase the chances of selling it quickly, and for top dollar, by making cost-effective repairs and creating easy access for Realtors and buyers. The local marketplace will be much kinder to you if your home is well-priced. When property goes onto the market, Realtors want to give it every opportunity to sell for as much as possible, but if there have been no offers after a month or two, it may be time to re-evaluate the price.

A Prayer to the Blessed Virgin (Never found to fail)

O Most beautiful Flower of Mount Carmel, Fruitful Vine, Splendour of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this my request. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother.

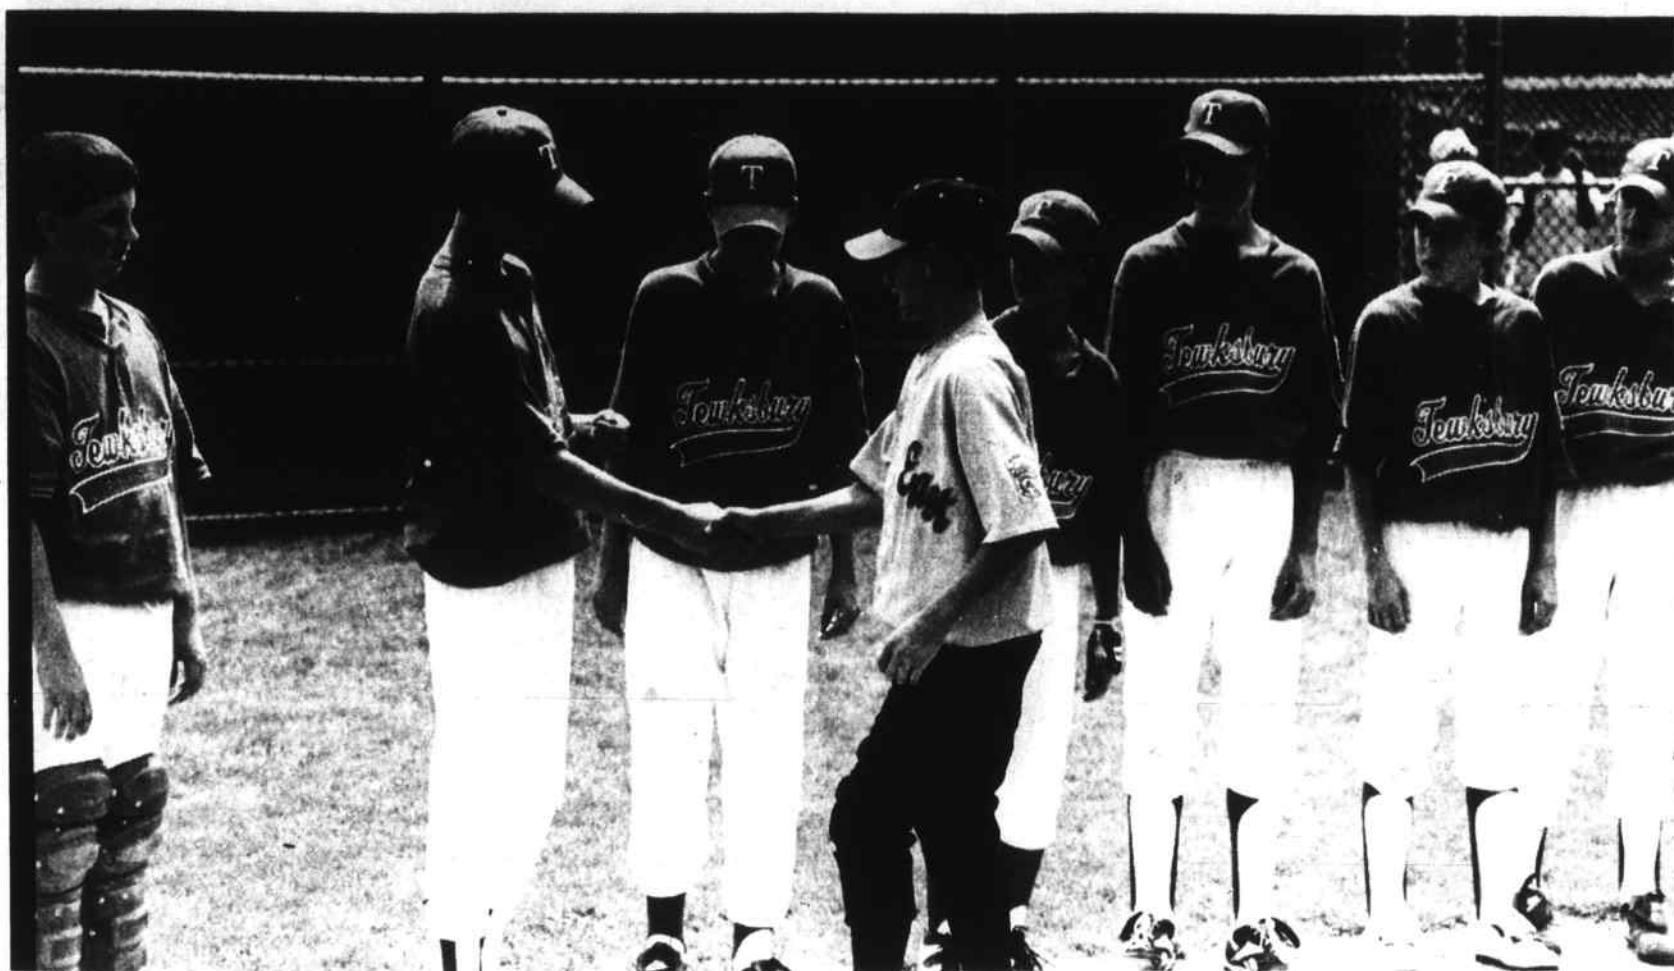

O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart, to succour me in this request; there are none that can withstand your power.

O, show me herein you are my Mother. O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to Thee. (3 times)

Sweet Mother, I place this request in your hands. (3 times)

Say for 3 consecutive days and publish. God Bless P.J.

rally ended when O'Hara made his second great scoop at first from Boudreau who was deep in the hole at short.

"Mark was in the hole and he threw it and I just scooped it. It's a normal play - especially from Mark," chuckled O'Hara after the game.

Tewksbury added another run in the bottom of the fifth inning to end the game because of the ten-run Mercy Rule. Both Favreau and O'Hara said being one of the smallest teams in size in the tournament, doesn't mean anything.

"Everyone kept saying that we were too small and that we wouldn't be able to hit or do anything. We proved them wrong today by getting ten runs," Favreau said.

"This team was good - they had some good fielders. It's a big relief to get that first win. It's awesome - and it's an honor to be here," Favreau continued.

O'Hara said he too heard the whispers - that the team from Massachusetts was too small to do any damage.

"Some people thought we would never win because we are the smallest team. Well we won 10-0 and I don't think size has anything to do with winning," O'Hara said.

Favreau went the distance, as he has done in his previous six starts. After this game he improved his record to 6-0 and lowering his E.R.A. to 1.59 - and on Monday his record improved to 7-0 and his E.R.A. diminished even lower.

Inbetween Favrea's two shutout wins, Tewksbury lost on Sunday, 9-2 to Tom's River, New Jersey. The majority of this team made up last year's Major League team who lost to Taiwan in the Little League World Series. So it was safe to say that Boudreau, the starting pitcher, would have his hands full.

Tewksbury scored two runs in the top of the first inning which really showed the character and determination of this team. After Boudreau grounded out, Favreau reached first on an error. Favreau just barely swiped second as the bullet throw from Colin Gaynor was high. Veiga singled in Favreau with a shot to left center and he took second on the throw home as Favreau was there with ease. Reinold grounded out to third and Veiga alertly took third on the play. Ryan Carlson singled in Veiga on a slow chooper to shortstop. Ryan Carrigan continued the inning when he harped on the first pitch and hit a hard shot deep in the hole where shortstop Danny Gallagher dove to make a great stop, but didn't have time to get up and throw as Carlson and Carrigan were safe. Danny Elliman hit a hard shot to left to load the bases. But Tom's River got out of the jam retiring T.J. Forsythe on a hard grounder to second.

Tom's River scored one run in the bottom of the first and four more in the bottom of the third to led 5-2. Tom's River continued to pour it on in the fourth inning as they more runs came across on one play - Chris Cerullo, who already had three RBI's in the game for Tom's River, lofted a fly ball to left-center field. Jason Veiga put on his jets and came along way just to get to the ball. He extended fully and the ball bounced out of his glove (the official scorer ruled it a three-base error, but that was hardly the case as Veiga made a tremendous effort just to get to the ball). And in the fifth inning, Veiga showed his great athleticism by making a diving catch on a similar play.

Tewksbury lost 9-2, but head coach Tony Ganchi said after the game, that Tewksbury is no team to be rolled upon on.

"These guys showed the Tewksbury National power - they showed they weren't some small town from Massachusetts. They showed that they can play with anyone. We didn't make any mental errors today - we had two bad innings.

"They hit the ball where we weren't and we hit the ball where they were. We came out strong and showed that we came to play. Hey, this New Jersey team has been together for a long time - they went to the Little League World Series last year. They are a well groomed team and so are we. We were hungry today - but a few balls didn't go our way. The score looks like they beat us pretty easy, but they didn't. This will wake us up - believe me. This team has only lost three games now in the past three years - they don't know what it is like to lose," Ganchi continued.

Ganchi admitted though after Veiga doubled to lead off the top of the third inning when Tewksbury led 2-1, his call to have Jimmy Reinold bunt to move Veiga along to third but have given Tom's River the momentum it needed. Reinold popped up to the catcher on the bunt and Veiga was nailed at second on a great throw by Colin Gaynor.

"At the time we had no outs and a runner on second and I thought if we could push another run across it would be a big run. But we tell the kids to make sure the bunt is down before you go. Jason has long strides and he took off. Yes, I do believe that gave them the momentum."

On Monday night, Favreau lowered his E.R.A to 1.40 and improved his record to 8-0 with a 6-0 defeat over Biddeford, Maine.

The game was scoreless going to the fifth inning and Tewksbury pushed across five runs. Veiga had two doubles and his third time at bat he hit a scorcher back to the mound which literally almost took the pitcher's hand off. Reinold, Carlson, O'Hara and Boudreau each had hits in the victory.

The night before, Favreau complained of a sore elbow which he iced. And on Tuesday, his elbow didn't bother him as he threw his fourth game in ten days and it appeared he got stronger as the game went on, striking out four of the last six batters. He struck out eight in the game and he gave up three hits. He has now thrown a no-hitter, a one-hitter, a two-hitter and two three-hitters during his mound duties.

Barber's triple play not enough for Charlies Auto Body

by Jamie Pote
Over 35 League 15
Stelio's 15
Charles Auto Body 14

Despite second baseman Ron Barber helping out Charlies with a triple play in the second inning, Paul Ruggerio got his revenge when he doubled in the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning for the eventual game winner for Stelio's as they won the nailbitter, 15-14 in recent Wilmington Adult Softball action.

With no outs and the bases loaded in the bottom of the second inning, Ruggerio lined at shot which Barber caught for the first out. Barber tagged second base to get Al Porterfield out and he continued the play by throwing over to first (he could have had an unassisted triple play but decided to throw to first) to get Stu Ring for the third out.

Roy Anderson, John Engdahl and Ring each had four hits in the winning effort for Stelio's. John Pellerin, Barber and Dave Newhouse had three hits apiece in the losing effort.

Brother's Pizza 10
3 Sons Contracting 8

3 Sons Contracting jumped out to an 8-1 lead after the first three innings and even despite a strong comeback from Brothers Pizza, 3 Sons held on for the 10-8 win behind the pitching from Steve Brander.

Brander helped himself with the bat going 5-for-5 at the plate including driving in two teammates and Artie Bibeau chipped in with three hits himself.

Terry McKenna had a double and a triple in the losing effort.

Lions Club 5
Charles Auto Body 3

With three runs in the bottom of the sixth behind extra base hits from Paul Johnson and Ernie Poole, Lions overcame the 3-2 deficit to win 5-2 in this pitcher's duel. Chuk Osgood was the winning pitcher.

Scott Aldrich had three hits and Bob Cleary had two hits in the winning effort. Dave Newhouse was 2-for-3 for Charlies.

Stelio's 1
Brother's Pizza 0

Chris Hinxman and Tommy Woods hooked up in a fantastic pitcher's duel as Hinxman threw the shutout as Stelio's scored their lone run in the sixth inning on a bases loaded walk to force in Al Porterfield. Hinxman allowed just six hits and he didn't walk a batter, as Woods gave up just five hits and he walked just two - both in the sixth inning.

Open-Co-Ed Slow Pitch
Brothers Pizza 18
Peterson Club 13

Brother's Pizza brought out the bats as Erik Engdahl led the charge with four hits, while, Herbie Mason, jr. and Steve Vedor hit three homers between them with the latter going deep twice. Also adding to the mix was Cliff Esher and Bobby Hogg with three hits each.

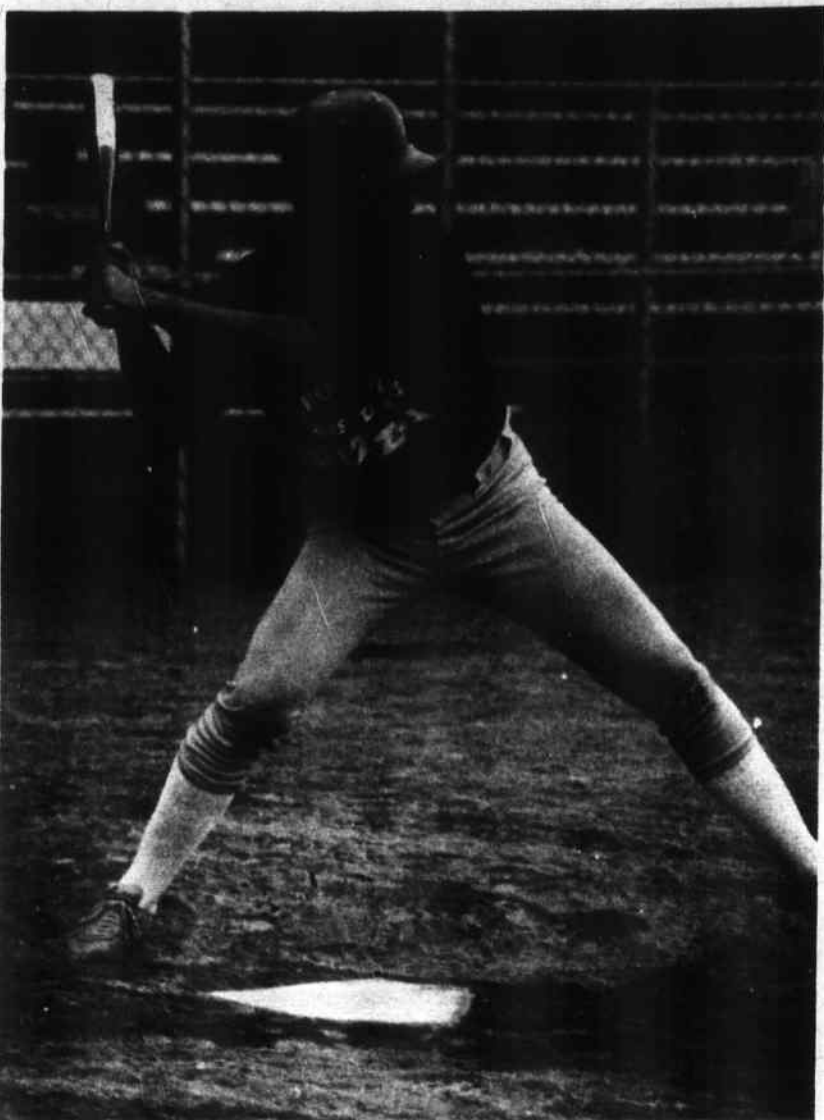

John Robarge and John Palmer had five hits between them with four of them being extra base hits.

United Travel 7
Northeast Development 6

United Travel scored two runs int he last half of the sixth inning to overcome ND and take the game 7-6. Steve Crowley had three hits in the winning effort, while, Bobby Surran and Nancy Pote had two hits each in the losing effort.

United Travel 18
Colonial Liquors 5

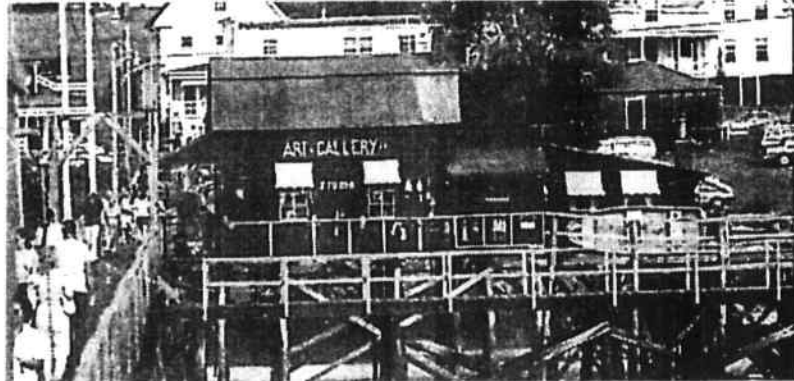

Everybody and everyone had hits in this entourage. Paul Buonopane and Scott Brennan led the charge with four hits each for UT. Mike Lombard and Marc Savosik went deep in the losing cause.

Yankees and Indians hooked up in great series

Yankees 1 Indians 0

This was the game of the year - it was what Little League playoffs are all about as the Yankees and Indians matched up in a fantastic pitcher's duel in Wilmington Major League Baseball playoff action from last month.

The game saw the top two teams, Yankees and Indians, open the best 2-out-of-3 series. The game demonstrated great pitching and defense, and in the end clutch hitting was the story. The (Rocco's Restaurant) Yankees won the game in the bottom of the sixth, 1-0, when Dennis DiCenso opened the inning with a base hit, and later scored on a Pat (#7, Mickey) Taylor, single to right.

The pitching in this game was excellent as the Indian pitchers, Patrick Cushing and George Godding did not walk a batter. The Yankees pitchers, Craig Osgood and David Rappoli walked only one batter, the lead off batter of the game.

The game also had its defensive gems, with the best being in the fourth inning when Dennis DiCenso, who later was one of the offensive heroes, reached over the fence in center field to rob George Godding of a two-run homer.

Dave Rappoli also made a defensive gem of a play when he went into the shortstop hole, back handed a grounder and as he was falling pegged a strike to second to get the force out at second. The Indians did have their chances in this game, as they had at least one runner on in every inning. Craig Osgood, who started on the mound for the Yankees, pitched three solid innings, especially in the third, when the Indians loaded up the bases after a single, a hit batsman, and an error.

With one out Osgood then struck out the next two hitters to end the threat. Osgood finished his three innings, allowing no runs on three hits, one walk and four strikeouts. David Rappoli relieved Osgood for the Yankees, pitching three innings of scoreless ball, while allowing three hits, no walks and striking out seven.

The Indians did throw a scare at Rappoli, when George Godding got a hold of a Rappoli fast ball and hit a towering fly to center, which saw DiCenso take away the home run threat.

The Indians started Patrick Cushing on the mound. Patrick pitched a stellar three innings, as he retired all nine batters he faced in his three innings. Patrick got the first three Yankee hitters in the first inning on two ground outs, and a fly out. The fourth batter, he faced in the second inning grounded out, then Patrick struck out the next five batters he faced.

George Godding then followed Cushing, by striking out the first three batters he faced, the getting the next two on a pop up and a fly out to center before David Rappoli, the 15th batter for the Yankees got the first Yankee hit and base runner, with a double to right field.

The Indians' pitchers had a perfect game going into the fifth with two outs before Rappoli's double. Dave Rappoli was left stranded at second, when Godding retired the number four hitter for the Yankees on a strike out.

The Indians got the first batter on in the top of the sixth, only to have Rappoli retire the next three on strike outs, leaving the dangerous Patrick Cushing on deck.

The Yankees now batting last, had their last shot at the Indians, before the game would go into extra innings. Dennis DiCenso, a defensive hero earlier, led off with a single and he stole second on an attempted bunt, advanced to third on a wild pitch, and scored on Patrick Taylor's single to right after Taylor fought off a couple of fast balls for fouls.

The Indians out hit the Yankees six to three, the first time this year for the Yankees. The Indians' hitters were Sean Godding, who was 2-for-2; Dave Aronofsky, George Godding, Ryan Pilcher and Sean McMahon, all with singles.

The game brought the Yankees strike to 17 consecutive wins, needing only one more to end the season with a perfect 18-0. This won't be an easy task against the hard throwing Indians.

Yankees 6 Indians 5

In the final playoff game of the 2-out-of-3 series, saw the (Rocco's Restaurant) Yankees come from behind and defeat the Indians. The win concluded the Yankees season with an 18-1 record. Their only loss was the second game of the finals, which brought the playoffs to the third game of the series.

This game was filled with all kinds of excitement. It saw the Yankees come from a 4-0 deficit and tie the game up only to have it go extra innings.

A dramatic home run by Patrick Cushing in the top of the seventh, put the Indians ahead again before the Yankees came back in the bottom of the seventh with two runs to pull out the victory. The pitching in the game was excellent as Patrick Cushing pitched three scoreless innings for the Tribe, allowing just two walks, and striking out six of the 11 Yankee batters he faced.

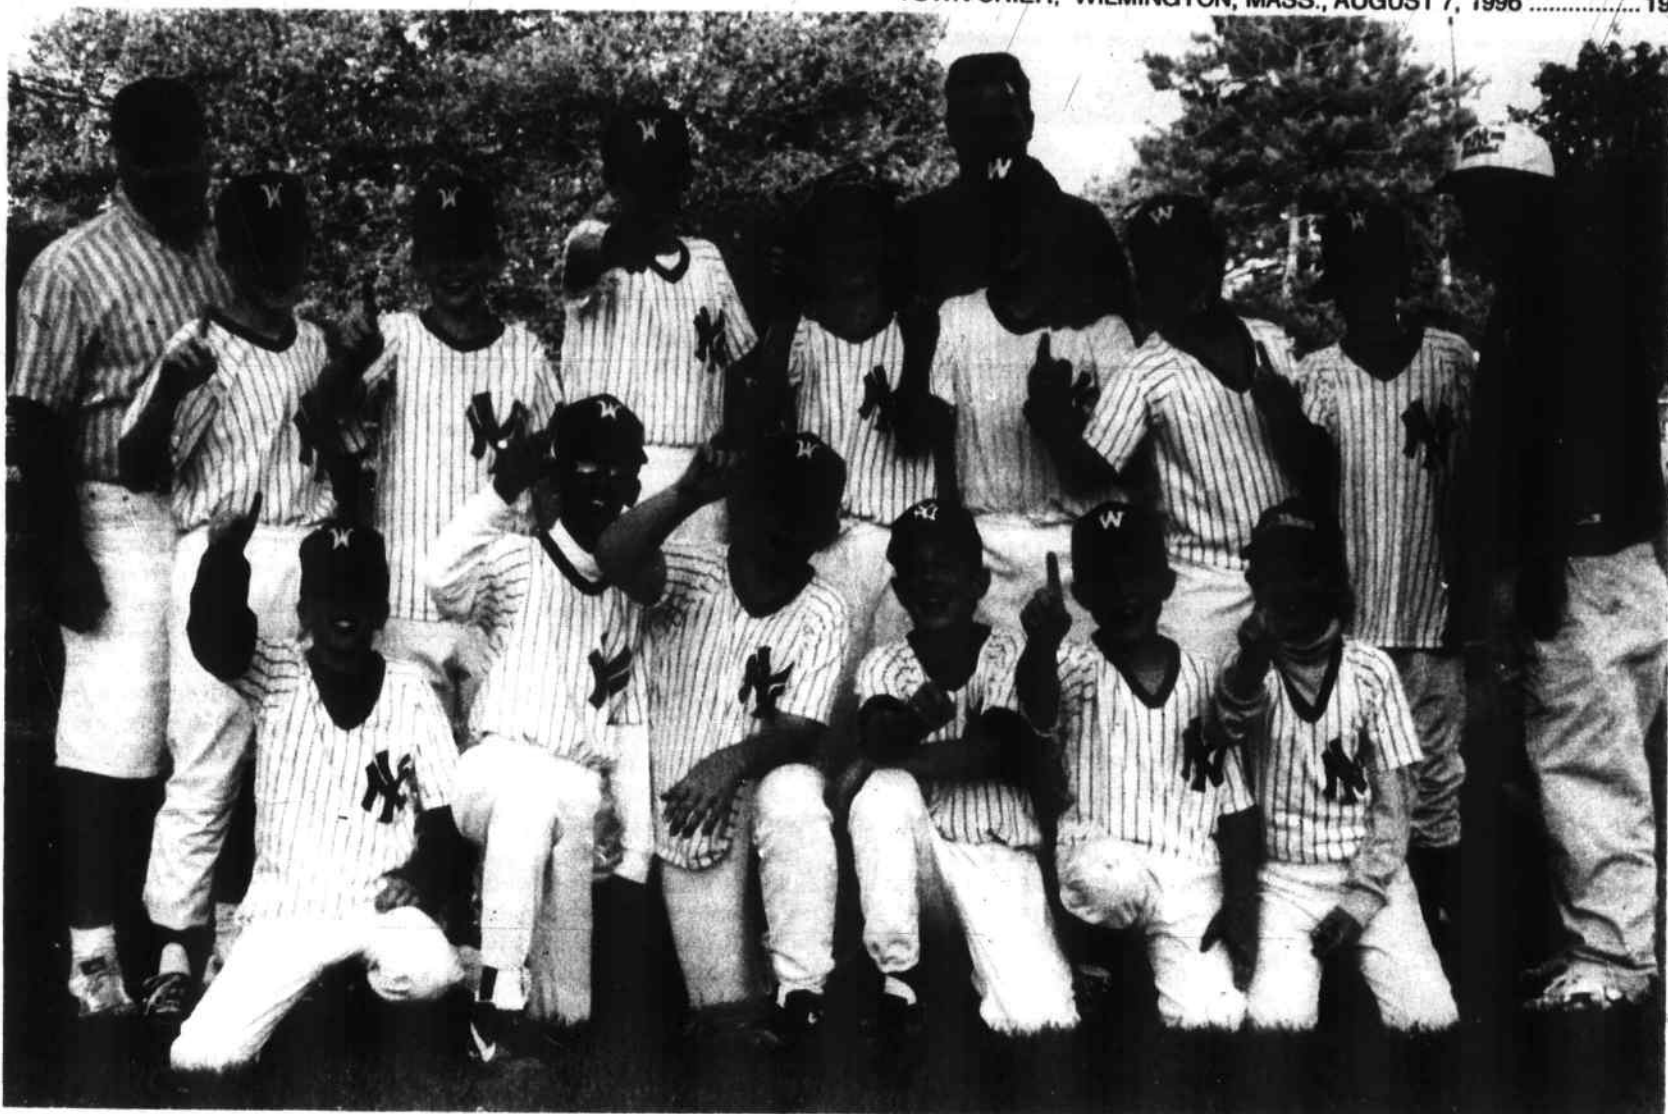

George Godding pitched the last four innings for the Indians. Dave Rappoli, the hard throwing Yankee pitcher, pitched the first six innings for the Yanks; Dave struck out 11 Indians, while walking just one and giving up five hits, and four runs.

Pranav Vaidya relieved in the seventh inning getting the last two outs on a pop out to the catcher Kyle Burns, and Kyle also threw out the dangerous George Godding attempting to steal second after reaching on an error. There were numerous heroes throughout this game.

The Indians jumped to a 1-0 lead in the third inning when Danny O'Connell singled and Sean McMahon followed with a triple to right center. The Indians then went up 4-0 in the top of the fourth.

Rappoli walked the first batter (only walk), struck out the next batter, then the third batter hit was first thought as an inning ending double play, pop up to shallow right. It was caught by second baseman Sean Osgood as the runner on first was on his way to second only to find out that the umpire had called catcher's interference on the play. The fourth batter of the inning, then got on with an unusual error by the Yankee sure handed infielder, allowing one runner to score.

That brought up the even dangerous George Godding, who doubled and drove in two more runs, to the Indians up 4-0. Rappoli then retired the next two batters on a pop up and strike out. The four runs tied the most runs

The Yankees of the Wilmington Major League Baseball League recently celebrated their championship with a great series over the Indians.

Rappoli had given up in one game all year.

The Yankees then batted in the bottom of the fourth now facing Godding as the Indians pitcher. Matt Bolland drew a leadoff walk, then was followed by a bunt single by Greg Bendel, a walk to Craig Osgood which loaded up the bases with no outs. Kyle Burns then grounded into a force play at home, Dave Rappoli then followed with a double driving in two runs making the score 4-2.

The next batter was retired on a strike out, but Burns was able to score from third on a pass ball, making the score 4-3 with two outs.

Dennis DiCenso who has been Mr. Clutch for the Yankees all year, singled to drive in Rappoli with the tying run. The next batter then struck out, leaving the score at 4-4 after four innings.

The next two innings saw neither team score, though each team had a base runner in each inning. That then brought on the dramatic seventh inning. The Indians went ahead on Cushing's home run 5-4.

The Yankees then batted in the bottom half of the inning, with one last chance to make a good season into a great season. Kyle Burns, who was the seventh inning defensive star, led off with a single to left. Dave Rappoli, then laced a triple into left center scoring Burns, with the tying run.

Now with no outs, and Rappoli on third, Mark Krasnyansky went to the plate. He asked his coach what about a bunt to get Rappoli in from third; the coach agreed, but the first pitch was inside, so Krasnyansky pulled back. Now the Indians, expecting a bunt were charging, so Krasnyansky was told to hit, which he did by driving a ball up the middle for a single and the winning RBI.

The Indians received hits from Danny O'Connell (two), George Godding (double), Sean McMahon (triple), Sean Tufts (single), and Patrick Cushing (homer). Carlson, the Indian shortstop made numerous plays at short throughout the series. Sean Godding also had two good plays at third.

The Yankees were led by Dave Rappoli (two doubles), Kyle Burns, Mark Krasnyansky, Dennis DiCenso all with singles and Greg Bendel with a bunt single. Defensive plays were turned in by two first inning catches in center field by DiCenso and two pop ups by catcher Burns.

The season ended, but the players on both teams should be congratulated for a fine season and playoffs. Each team's members participated in obtaining an excellent season as the Indians and Yankees finished first and second in the regular season as well.

Wilmington Playground still having fun despite rain

Even with the cool, cloudy weather, the Wilmington playground has been going on strong.

Recently, Playgroupers enjoyed a trip to No. Reading for an afternoon of bowling and pizza. There were spares and strikes galore!

On Monday, Playgroupers had some high flying fun during the playground's paper airplane contest in which they designed and flew their own paper planes.

One of last week's highlights was Sundae Day. Leaders and volunteers dropped scoop after scoop of delicious Tootsie's Kitchen ice cream into Playgroupers' bowls and then loaded on the hot fudge, strawberries and whipped cream. With full bellies and giant smiles, the playgrounders were obviously thankful that Tootsie's Kitchen agreed to sponsor this annual event.

On Wednesday, the children participated in a new Playground event called "Pirates' Treasure Hunt." In this crazy event the youngsters solved a variety of clues which lead them to a playground leader. Once in contact with a leader, each crew member an captain had to rise to the challenge of a designated task.

After completing a series of difficult tasks, points were tallied, and three crews were chosen to split the well deserved treasure. Captain Lauren Christenson lead her Mates (otherwise known as Janice Folk, Jessica Lecece, Monica Folk, Michelle St. Aubin, Jessica Pereira, and Ashley Bruno) to a third place victory. Coming in second were Tim Aldrich, Jon Bavota, Derek Liberty, Zack Wilkins, Krissy DaSilva, Jimmy DaSilva, Dan Delrosi and Max Wilkins, who called themselves the Pirates.

Captain Andrew Campbell led his crew (with the unlikely name of The Spaceballs) to a first place victory. Crew members included Michelle Rappoli, Pat Cushing, Shawn Osgood, Lauren Cushing, Chris Ramsdell, Mike McNeill, and David Rappoli.

Playgroupers of the Week, Eileen Jordan and Timmy Anderson were extremely helpful to both leaders and volunteers. Megan Sullivan and Marlene O'Rourke, the Volunteers of the Week, demonstrated their care and support to playground leaders throughout the week.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

BURGLARS NOT WELCOME

QUESTION: I am taking my family on a long vacation next month. Do you have any tips on how to make our home less of an easy mark for burglars during the time we will be gone?

ANSWER: The main tip is to make your home look "lived-in". This can easily be done with the use of lights. Most stores sell automatic timers that will turn lights on and off at certain times. Using two of these timers is an even better idea - certain lights can be set to go off as others go on.

If you add a radio or television playing to your "program," there is even more of an indication that there is someone home. Burglars hate company!

IF YOU GO ON VACATION, try to make your home look lived-in to prevent burglary.

Sleep well, Uncle Maurice

by Bill Conlon

They don't make 'em like Uncle Maurice anymore, sad to say.

I lost an uncle over the weekend, and Massachusetts outdoor sporting lost even more. Maurice Deschenes of Tyngsboro passed away shortly after noon on Saturday, just a few short weeks since he was diagnosed with severe cancer. He knew there was no hope for recovery, and on Saturday morning he simply didn't wake up. His end came quietly.

Uncle Maurice was a life member of the Tyngsboro Sportsmen's Club and his picture graces several walls there. Uncle Maurice was always quick to volunteer for any project, especially one requiring carpentry skills, at The Club. He retired as a carpenter, after years of hanging acoustical ceilings.

More locally, "mon oncle" was an avid deer hunter, and was the part-owner of a deer camp outside of Hillsboro, New Hampshire, where I built some great memories. In fact, I tagged a buck while hunting out of the "Six-Pack," in 1980 -- my only New England deer thus far. (The deer camp was so named for the six original owners who built the place from bare ground, and not for the adult beverage that comes in groups of six, although a few of those were consumed there, on occasion.)

I'll always remember the sight of my Uncle Maurice, decked out in his red (later orange) deer hunting clothes, and lugging a .35 Remington lever action, the only such rifle of that caliber I've ever seen.

Uncle Maurice, who lived on the shore of Long Pond in Tyngsboro, was also there when my dad taught me to fish, some time back in the ... um ... 1950s?

Whenever I stopped by to visit him in the winter, I never expected to find Uncle Maurice indoors. He was always somewhere out on the pond, ice fishing with his brother or another relative. Always. No matter how much ice fishing I do, I'll never come close to the hours that Uncle Maurice put in. He'd get up early, as a carpenter would, and watch the sun come up from the middle of the pond. Now that's the proper way to retire!

Maurice had three sons, Douglas, Steven and Robert, and I've spent time fishing and-or hunting with all three of them. I'm happy to report that all three boys (now men) are courteous and law-abiding, and that was all Maurice's doing. Kids who receive patient but strict training in the rules and ethics of the outdoors become good sportsmen, while the rest become the "barbarians" who are ruining the ancient pursuits of fishing and hunting, and making all who wear hunter orange seem like idiots. Uncle Maurice wouldn't put up with that sort of trash, and so his sons were taught well. I would not hesitate to take to the field with any of Maurice Deschenes three boys.

They don't make them like Uncle Maurice anymore. A war veteran, an avid hunter and fisherman, and a man who taught his sons to follow the rules of the woods. I pray for his sons and even more for his wife, Joanne, who must now endure the terrible silence that comes from losing a spouse.

Sleep well, uncle. You earned it.

--- Tackle Box ---

Talk about a weird Saturday! At the same time that my Uncle was in transit, my brother and his wife in Colorado were having their first child. Within an hour I lost one of my favorite uncles, while gaining a niece, 8-pound, 4-ounce Meghan Rita Conlon, of Longmont, Colo.

Tewksbury Rod & Gun Club will hold a free Hunter Safety Course, beginning at 7 p.m. on September 5 and running for six Thursdays. Be there the first night and you're all signed up. A certificate issued for successful completion of the course is now required, if you want to get a Mass. hunting license!

What's this about a Lowell Rotary Club fishing derby, September 6-8? Details later, when I get them.

Starting next spring, wild turkeys are open for hunting in Middlesex and Essex counties! True fact! The Fisheries & Wildlife Board granted that and several other changes at its July meeting, to reflect the success of the turkey restoration project. Also, turkey hunting will now be allowed in all of Franklin, Hampshire and Hampden counties, and in part of western Worcester county. The spring season was extended to four weeks, turkey decoys will now be legal, and the dates for the fall season were changed. (Check next year's abstract for all the details.) Turkeys in Tewksbury? Oh, yes!

Rodney Dangerfield leads Tewksbury Golf tourney

On July 16, 80 golfers enjoyed the fifth annual Tewksbury Youth Hockey Golf Tournament at the magnificent Marlboro Country Club. The weather was perfect, the course was in beautiful condition and most of the golfers hit the ball long and straight.

The tournament committee which was chaired by Vinny Fratalia received tremendous support from area businesses and citizens in way of raffle prizes and hole sponsorships. These sponsors are an important part of our TYSA family. Their support to the youth in our community makes Tewksbury a better place to live and Tewksbury Youth Hockey the dynamite program that it is today. The entire tournament was a huge success.

Winners: first place, Jim Duffy, Teddy Madden, Frank Madden, Rodney Dangerfield; second place, Barry Paquette, Tom Magee, Joe McCormack, John McCormack; third place, Vinny Fratalia, Steve Fratalia, Robert Fratalia, Chris Fratalia.

Closest to the pin: hole #5, Ted Madden; hole #7, Joe Dean; hole

#12, Paul Hanley; hole #18, Lenny Riley.

Putting contest, Richie Stokes. Former Boston Bruin Don Awrey joined TYSA golfers for a day on the links. Don hits the ball almost as well as we remember him hitting along the boards. It is great to have him along for the day and we appreciate him taking the time to join us in support of our young hockey players.

Beach Day for Woburn Street Playground

The Wilmington Police Association sponsored Beach Day and then a field trip to Billerica Flick highlighted week five for the Wilmington Summer Camp at Woburn Street School.

Celestial telescopes, kaleidoscopes, and weaving bowls were created with the aid of staff members Julie Robinson and Leanne McConologue.

Leanne Tarantino has been running Stratego Tournament and everyone has been traveling on the Oregon Trail in Quiet Games.

Fun has abounded at active games where staff members Kathy Madden and Joe Marssoobian have been physically challenging the students.

Next weeks' Super Stars at the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks on Tuesday is eagerly anticipated.

Tewksbury Summer Track results

The third annual summer track clinic ran the week of July 22-26 from 9 a.m. to noon at TMHS track. Over 70 young athletes attended and learned some of the fundamentals of warming up, conditioning, sprinting, distance running, long jumping, shot putting and relay racing.

Directed by head track coach at TMHS, Bob MacDougall and assistant track coach Jennifer Brooks, the athletes were set up into two teams for the purpose of holding a mini-olympic track meet on the last day of the clinic.

Team Kenya was coached by present and former TMHS track athletes Karen Segur, Sarah Kenney, Josh Bombach, Jennifer Takach, Danielle Bastien, Jennifer Ivas, Janel Mootrey, Jessica Hyde and Dave Clark.

Team Australia was coached by Kevin Andriolo, Mary McGrath, Jon Bombach, Vinnie Napoli, Julie Milley, Meghan Goodhue, Kerri Greenan, Katie Brimer and Erica LaBella.

Australia won the meet by a score of 234 to 215. The meet was very competitive even though it was pouring rain and two of the events, the hurdles and the long jump, were held in the gym. Following the meet, both teams had a pizza party and first, second and third place ribbons were awarded for each event.

The track clinic is open to all aspiring track athletes in Tewksbury between the ages of 8 and 14. It will take place again next summer under the direction of the Community Education Department.

The largest turnout of the summer came to the final meet Thursday, July 25. Over 180 young athletes competed in the meet highlighted by many exciting races. Probably the most thrilling was the finish in the 200 meters for nine year old girls and the 220 for 10-11 year old girls.

In the nine year old race, Stacy Ossinger was the winner, and she was followed in a dead heat tie for second by Kimberly Dicridico and Lauren Ahern. In the 10-11 year old race, Adrienne LeFebvre was the winner by a fraction over a four way tie for second by Ashley Bibb, Sarah Mulvanity, Janelle LaFreniere and Kristen Surette.

The success of these summer meets owes a great deal to the efforts and time donated by the parents and athletes of the TMHS track and cross country teams. Writing and awarding ribbons with encouraging words for several years, Pat Takach has been an invaluable asset to the program. Assistant track coach Jen Brooks has been on hand to help out and to run the entire meet on July 11.

Others who have helped a great deal this summer include Helen Bastien, Rita and Charlie LaBella and the following track athletes: Vinnie Napoli, Meghan Goodhue, Danielle Bastien, Julia Milley, Mark Corbett, Mary McGrath, Jennifer Ivas, Erica LaBella, Katie Brimer, Kerri Greenan, Tasha Clark, Janel Mootrey, and Kaitlin Mikule.

Local Actress Flies to New Heights

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Her career is flying as high or higher than her recent role as Peter Pan and Stoneham native Kathy St. George could be looking to a return to New York's Big Apple. The return could very well happen by the beginning of October, if the rumors of Gip Hoppe's "Jackie: An American Life" are true. It is being touted for an off-Broadway theater. If this happens St. George, who still has her apartment in the Big City and plays 18 roles in the ensemble cast, is ready for the return.

This is a big turn around for a person who was tired of the stage just a few short years ago. However, many things have happened since she was turned down for a role in "Shear Madness."

The story goes back to 1992 when St. George just finished her world tour of "Fiddler on the Roof." She had not wanted to do the show a second time. However, the lure of working with Topal and the possibility of traveling to Japan seduced her to return.

The production won a Tony award for best revival of the 1991 season and St. George got to spend three weeks in Japan as the Fiddler played the Tokyo and Osaka audiences. Describing her experience St. George remembered that the actors would say their lines as memorized in English. However, there were "two huge screens at either side of the stage where the words were displayed in Japanese."

During her stay in New York, St. George "...spent a lot of money commuting back to Boston on People's Express, AmTrak and Peter Pan (the bus line)."

During some of those commutes she would appear in productions of "A Christmas Carol" with former WHDH radio announcer Jess Cain or tape one of her many parts on "Spencer For Hire."

"I played everything from a hooker to a paramedic on that (television) show," St. George recalled.

However, it was the part that she did not get, the female hairdresser from Revere in Shear Madness that sent St. George looking for new show business avenues to pursue.

She turned to her love of music from the 40's and 50's and joined the group "Uptown Acapella" that performed all over Greater Boston. The irony was that she was still getting calls from directors asking her to audition for various stage shows.

Although she was doing temporary office work during the days, she stuck it out with the group.

"I was missing it (the theater)," St. George said, "But I really wanted to make something of the singing group."

The chance to play the part of Sheila in the Merrimack Theatre presentation of "Jake's Women" was the call that returned St. George to the stage.

"I found that I had a positively glorious time," St. George said. "I started to work out in theaters up here and in Florida."

The Florida gigs brought her to Vero Beach where she sang in two concerts and performed in two different shows. This brought the perky but petite actress to the attention of the theater and when it was time to put on a production of Peter Pan, the 42-year-old St. George got the call to take the flight in one of her two dream roles.

As in any story on theater fate took its course and St. George was hit with the news that her father, Brendan, had been diagnosed with Cancer. That almost took its toll of the actress.

KATHY ST. GEORGE LOOKS to a future that could hold an off-Broadway production of her latest hit show Jackie: An American Life or the possibility of more voice over work such as her latest as two of the voices on the CD Rom game "Casey Goes to the Campground" by the Concord company Animation Magic.

However, at her fathers urging St. George returned to Florida to start the rehearsals. "He told me he wanted to come to Florida and see me play Peter Pan," St. George said. The play ran through the St. George to S4

RUNNING LEGENDS DICK HOYT pushes his son Rick in his wheelchair in the Boston Marathon. The North Reading natives are scheduled to run in the 5-mile Showcase Road Race sponsored by the North Reading Business Association on Saturday, September 14. The race starts and finished on Route 28.

Rich and Dick Hoyt to run in 5-mile Business Showcase road race

By Maureen G. Doherty
Special to the M.E.

Road race enthusiasts should 'rev' up their running shoes for the largest fund-raising road race ever planned in town.

The second annual 5-mile Showcase Road Race is a fundraiser sponsored by the North Reading Business Association and this year's beneficiary will be the North Reading Athletic Boosters.

The road race, which will be run on a certified course with an official overhead clock at the finish line, is set to coincide with the annual Business Showcase organized by the Business Association. The event is scheduled for Saturday, September 14 and will start at 50 Main Street near the Piccadilly Pub on Route 28. It will be held rain or shine with the starter's gun going off at 10 a.m. Registration begins at 9 a.m.

In addition to helping the group raise funds to replace the old home bleachers on the NRHS baseball diamond, the road race offers runners a chance to participate in a race with the world-renowned father and son road racing team of Dick and Rick Hoyt.

Natives of North Reading who now reside in Holland, Mass., the Hoyts have inspired millions world wide since they began participating in road races in 1978. They eventually started running marathons and triathlons and are as much of a fixture at the Boston Marathon as Johnny Kelly.

What makes their story remarkable is that Dick Hoyt pushes his son Rick in his wheelchair in all of these races. Despite having cerebral palsy which has left him unable to speak or use his arms or legs, Rick Hoyt, 35, is a graduate of Boston University. He communi-cates by tapping out words on his computer via a system devised by Tufts University when he was 8.

CPR Training offered at MWH

Someone you know may die from cardiac arrest - when his or her heart stops beating due to heart attack, stroke or other trauma. Many of these arrests occur at home, in the presence of a family member. If you are there, you have the power to save that person's life - by calling immediately for emergency help and starting CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation), a critical life-saving skill.

In an effort to teach more people CPR, a low-cost Training Program is being held on Thursday, August 11 from 5:00 to 7:00 pm at the Gazebo at the Lake Quannapowit common area in Wakefield. Participants are encouraged to bring a blanket and a picnic supper.

To register for CPR Training, call Melrose - Wakefield Hospital at (617) 979-3878.

The course will be taught by certified instructors and community health care professionals. In just two hours and for only $5 per person, you can learn how to save a life, possibly someone you love.

After cardiac arrest, promptly initiated CPR may save the victim's life and return him or her to a productive life. CPR delivers oxygen to the body and helps to restart the heart. Without CPR, permanent brain damage and even death will occur due to lack of oxygen. To survive, a victim must receive basic CPR within four minutes after arrest. Speed and knowing what to do are the keys to saving lives.

Previous medical training in how to rescue someone in cardiac arrest is not necessary. CPR is easy to learn and there are no tests to take.

CPR Training is part of a massive community effort of the Cardiac Survival Project, a community collaboration led by Melrose - Wakefield Hospital and including local fire and police departments, ambulance services, the American Red Cross, the Office of Emergency Medical Services, the American Heart Association and other community resources.

New regulations Old hunting license may be helpful

In order to avoid delays, the Division of Fisheries and Wildlife reminds hunters to be sure to bring an old hunting license or a hunter education certificate along when going to purchase a license.

As a result of recently passed legislation, anyone purchasing a hunting license MUST show evidence of having held a hunting license in any previous year or of having completed a hunter education course. Sellers are not permitted to issue a license in the absence of one of these documents.

If a hunter held a license during 1995 but does not have the license, he/she may call the Division at (508) 792-7270. Division staff are available to help them locate their 1995 number. Sportsmen who did not hold a license in 1995 may present a license from a previous year.

Sportsmen having difficulty in locating an office where they can obtain a license are asked to call the Division at (508) 792-7270 or (617) 727-3151.

School Notes by Phyllis Nissen

Chopsticks in the cafeteria

"Recently, the fifth graders of the Hood School in North Reading celebrated their departure for middle school with a special day, filled with Chinese arts and culture," notes Pamela Oliver from North Reading's J. T. Hood School. "Though the students studied the travels of Marco Polo, they were not fortunate enough to make a trip to China themselves. Instead, the Chinese Cultural Connection, Inc. (CCC) of Reading brought a sampling of China to them. The Hood School fifth graders participated in a series of exciting hands-on workshops that expanded on their classroom social studies program.

"Huang Chiao Bin acquainted the students with the traditional ribbon dance and demonstrated her great skill performing for the students. Soon it was the students' turn. Armed with two long, colorful ribbons, the fifth graders moved to Chinese music, attempting to create patterns with their ribbons. The students found that what Huang Chiao Bin made look so easy took much more skill and concentration than expected.

"Linda Shen's workshop focused on Chinese calligraphy. Not only did the students learn to speak a little conversational Chinese, but they also became familiar with some simple pictographs. Finally, the students were given brush and ink to write their birth dates in Chinese. The fifth graders were quick to observe how different the structure of the English language is from Chinese.

"The Shuttlecock workshop, taught by Catherine Hsu, introduced the students to a popular children's game in Taiwan and China. The shuttlecock is a small, weighted object, sometimes decorated with feathers, about the size of a hacky sack. Traditionally, Chinese soldiers would use the shuttlecock to exercise their legs and keep warm. Now it is used to increase coordination and have fun. The shuttlecock is balanced on the inside edge of the foot and projected upward. It may land on your shoulder or forehead if you are particularly skillful. After Mrs. Hsu demonstrated her skill, the students made their own shuttlecocks and had fun trying them out.

"The final event of the day was a Chinese luncheon served in the school cafeteria. After such a busy morning, the students used their chopsticks effectively to devour the food provided by the Emperor's Choice Restaurant of Reading.

"The teachers and CCC instructors were assisted by parent volunteers: Mrs. Hayter, Mrs. MacEachern, Mrs. Finocchiaro, Mrs. Doyle, Mrs. Casazza. The parents not only helped supervise the workshops, but they also served the hungry group at lunch.

"Fund raising for this event was in large part the responsibility of the Hood School fifth graders. They collected bottles and cans for about three months. They also participated in a very successful book-a-thon in which family and friends pledged money for each book they read.

"In addition, the North Reading Arts Council awarded the fifth grade a grant to assist with the cost of the workshop. The Hood Parent Association also assisted the fifth graders by donating the proceeds of their can, bottle drive and their spring bake sale.

"The fifth graders, Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Feuerman, and Mr. Russell thank everyone who contributed to making this special project such a success."

Mediator enters

"The Tewksbury Teachers Association and the Tewksbury School Committee have agreed to seek the assistance of a neutral third party mediator to assist them in their negotiations for a collective bargaining agreement effective September 1," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier." "The parties take this action in the hope that an agreement can be reached in a timely manner."

Coming school year extended by two days

"Lynnfield Public Schools students will be going to school two days more than the traditional 180 days in the 1996-97 school year," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"The coming school year will begin September 4 - after Labor Day - for all students of the Lynnfield Public Schools.

"Extending the school year is something we're trying to do, and that's what we're trying to negotiate around," said Superintendent of Schools Dr. Richard Palermo, referring to stalled contract negotiations with the Lynnfield Teachers Association (LTA).

"The current contract with the LTA expired June 30, but both sides will abide by the existing contract until a new agreement can be reached.

"Palermo said the existing contract language will be followed to the letter. The contract allows for teachers to be in school for 184 days and students for 182 days.

"Teachers will report to school on September 3 and have one professional development day during which students will not be in attendance.

"If no snow days are used, classes will end June 23."

Golf or school?

Wilmington Selectmen have appointed the charter membership of the Wilmington golf course committee. "The committee, officially known as the Municipal Golf Course and Recreation Area Feasibility Study Committee, now has 14 members, plus a provision for a member of the school committee to join, if that body so chooses," notes the Wilmington "Town Crier."

"The committee was formed by a group of residents seeking to test the feasibility of building a municipal golf course on town-owned and perhaps current private land located on Salem Street and bordering Interstate 93 and the town of Tewksbury.

"The school committee slot came after a motion from Selectman Michael McCoy, who expressed concern that the space eyed by the golf course committee not be ruled out for use for a new school....In the end, both the provision for the school committee member slot and the approval of the golf course committee membership went through by easy, unanimous votes. No limit has been set on committee membership.

"Appointed to the committee were David Trane, Jim Rooney, and Michael Newhouse, along with Ruth Mullarky, Barbara Tobey, Bob LaVita, John Ritchie, Ray Mercuri, Noel Baratta, Carolyn Stanhope, Richard Hayden, Anthony Krzeminski, Jim Miceli, and Charles Rooney."

Additional curbside collections

"After watching yard waste and other unauthorized materials extend from dumpsters into Pine Street every weekend, the town has decided to take steps to simplify its leaf recycling program," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"Beginning this fall, the town will have four curbside leaf pickups instead of the traditional single collection. Tentatively planned, residents will be able to put their yard waste out on

New England Capital Funding opens office in Woburn

New England Capital Funding, a mortgage services company, recently opened an office in Woburn. Located at 52B Nashua Street, the firm is owned and operated by Jack Cagnina of Reading.

The company serves two distinct mortgage markets. First, in the conventional mortgage market, New England Capital Funding offers mortgage reduction and mortgage auditing programs.

Real Estate owners paying down a mortgage on residential or commercial property can substantially increase the amount of equity in the property through the reduction programs offered by NECF. In most instances, the basic mortgage reduction program can reduce the time to pay off a conventional mortgage by one third while saving tens of thousands of dollars in interest costs.

Mortgage auditing programs, monitoring all payments made, assure proper crediting of all principal and interest amounts. Recent government figures for the banking industry estimate that some $14 billion in payment errors are made each year.

Given the cost of mortgage payments combined with the huge amounts of interest expense, property owners may benefit greatly when utilizing the mortgage reduction and auditing programs.

In the second market, the private mortgage market, New England Capital Funding assists in structuring seller financing and provides liquidity for seller financed (hence, privately held) mortgages.

More specifically, when the seller of real estate is offering full or partial financing to complete the sale of property (known as "taking back paper"), NECF assists the property owner with all aspects of structuring the financing. Once the sale of the property is completed, New England Capital Funding will then liquidate the mortgage note for cash to the selling party.

In most instances, because the buyer of the note is pre-arranged, the liquidation takes place simultaneously with the closing of the seller financed mortgage. New England Capital Funding works with a national network of buyers, some representing the largest companies domiciled in this country.

Mr. Cagnina, who owns and operates New England Capital Funding, was previously employed in the brokerage industry as a registered Representative. As a broker for Paine Webber and Dean Witter, Cagnina focused his efforts on securities sales in the late 1970's and throughout the 1980's, working with individual, corporate and institutional accounts.

Turning his focus to investment banking and money management, Mr. Cagnina joined Boston based Tucker Anthony in 1990, where he finished out his career in the securities industry.

Cagnina has studied at the National Mortgage Investor's Institute in Orlando, Florida. Cagnina was awarded the Certified Mortgage Investor designation.

Known to his friends and associates as Jack, Mr. Cagnina and his wife Deborah make their home in Reading with their four children.

ANTHONY MANCONI

Folks, every man and woman is his or her own "Gardner." If seeds of "hate" are planted, then all one can expect to harvest is "discouragement," "greed" and "despair." But, if seeds of "love" are sowed, the one can "hope" for a bountiful crop of "tranquility," "contentment" and "peace."

All the money in the world can't but the "wag" of a dog tail. A dog knows if you love it or not and be assured if you do the dog will return that love a hundredfold. I recently had to put my eleven year old "Yellow Lab" to sleep because her arthritis got so bad she couldn't walk. Folks, I'm a senior citizen and so is Kathy. We are not ashamed to tell you that we cried for over a week. My dog, Blondie, was never tied to a tree and left there all day long. She was indeed part of my family. "Blondie, I know that in your heavenly log, you weren't signed in 'only a dog.'" Larry Garabedian said to his love life, Juliette, (as he was lying down on the sofa, "Dear I'm resting. I'll think about mowing the lawn after I think about painting the fence."

Folks, God can do wonders with a "broken heart" if you give Him all the pieces. Dennis Tully said to Brian McCarthy "I'm two dollars short in my pay envelope." Brian looked over the pay ledger and said, "Dennis, you are right BUT, look here, you were overpaid two dollars last week. 'Why' didn't you come running to me to complain them?" Dennis smiled and replied, "Brian, one mistake I can tolerate but 'not' two in a row!"

When my Uncle John Shea was confined in the Chelsea Soldier's Home, his bosom friend Rowan Fitzgerald paid him a visit. "How are you feeling today?" Rowan asked. "What did you say?" Rowan repeated a little louder, "How are you feeling?" He got the same answer from Uncle John, "What did you say?" Rowan exploded with "what the heck is the matter with you, you you getting deaf?" "No," Uncle John replied with a wee smile and a twinkle in his eyes, "I've been here for two weeks without a drop to drink and your breath Rowan is like a breeze from heaven."

AUGUST CANOE TRIPS PLANNED

The Merrimack River Watershed Council (MRWC) is hosting a series of free canoe trips, through October. The Council is a non-profit environmental group based in Lawrence, Mass. and Concord, New Hampshire, that works to protect the Merrimack River. The trips are open to everyone and offer a great chance to get to know the region's rivers.

All Council trips have a theme, ranging from historical to bird-watching to viewing fall foliage. All are excellent family outings, and each trip is ranked according to difficulty. Trips are held rain or shine, and proceed at a leisurely pace. There is a lunch break around noon (bring your own), and most trips end at 3 p.m. Small pets and children are usually discouraged, unless you are an experienced paddler. Everyone must have a life preserver and know how to swim.

No registration is required, and all trips are free unless otherwise noted. For more information and directions, call the contacts listed for each trip. A complete canoe trip schedule is also available - call the MRWC for a copy at (508) 681-5777. For schedule updates, call the Council's "Canoe Hotline" at (508) 685-5556 for a recorded message.

This year, for the first time, canoe and kayak rentals are available from Outback Kayak (603) 745-5009 and Winnie's Sailboarders School and Outlet (603) 528-4110.

The August schedule is as follows:

August 10: Upper Pemigewasset (easy to moderate). Meet 9 a.m. North Woodstock, NH. Call Kelly Chase (603) 745-5099.

August 11: Pemigewasset River (easy). Meet 9:30 a.m. Plymouth, NH. Call Earl Flanders (603) 536-5652.

August 17: Pemigewasset River (easy). Meet 9 a.m. New ROSENBLATT FIGHT TRIP PACKAGE

Seeking support for Malden middleweight Dana Rosenblatt, Malden Catholic is offering a three-day, two-night package to see Rosenblatt face Vinny Pazienza for the World Boxing Union World Championship on Aug. 23 in Atlantic City. The entire trip lasts from August 23-25.

The package includes a $50 ticket to the fight, where Rosenblatt, a 1990 graduate of MC, will bring a 28-0 record. Also included in the package is deluxe motor coach transportation, coffee and donuts served en route, and accommodations for two nights at Trump's World's Fair Casino. A "Super Bonus Package" per person features a $20 coin and dinner buffet at the casino.

In addition, the package covers all taxes and gratuities for included features, except customary gratuities to chambermaids, driver and escort. Luggage handling on the trip allows for one suitcase and one carry-on. Travelers will enjoy snacks and refreshments served on the return, as well as a Celebration Tour escort throughout the trip.

The complete cost per person is $299 on a twin basis, $289 on a triple basis, and $399 on a single basis. Interested persons should contact the MC Alumni and Development Office at 322-8377.

MEDFORD'S FIRST

"Feast of the Madonna" celebrating the Feast of The Assumption will be held on Thursday, August 15 at 4:00 to 11:00 pm at the Royall House Park, George St., Medford.

Children's activities will be featured from 4:00 to 6:00 pm. There will be an Angel Costume contest with prizes for best costumes in several categories.

Mass will be at 7:00 pm and a candlelight procession will fol-

State Road Race company to get the race certified.

Favaloro said they are anticipating a field of at least 200 runners and free T-shirts will be given to the first 200 registrants. The cost of entering the race is $11 prior to August 25 and $13 thereafter.

There will be many categories of prizes for the race winners. A commemorative medal will be awarded to the first male and female race finishers in eight categories: first North Reading resident, under 20, 20-39, 40-49, 50-59, 60+, youngest finisher and oldest finisher. Runners can win in more than one category.

"This is a great opportunity for North Reading to have a fun, exciting community event. It really can be not only a great race, but a great day with the Showcase going on," Favaloro said. "I'd like to mention that after the race the runners will be able to walk through some of businesses' displays and participate in free food and giveaways." Hoyts to S-14 runners safely off the course. "There will be computerized results so we'll have instant results on the race," Favaloro said.

The anticipated route starts at roughly the Piccadilly Pub on Route 28 south, heads to Cota Funeral Home where runners will take a left onto Park Street, enter Ridgeway Estates, exit onto Central Street, take a left onto North Street, passing the Hillview Country Club and then taking another left onto Route 28 south back to the finish line at the Piccadilly Pub.

As was done last year, to ensure the safety of the runners, the Business Association will have police details on hand to block off and monitor one lane of Route 28, Favaloro said. Now, many readers may not recall much about this group's first attempt at running a road race last year because, by his own admission, Favaloro said the turnout was low. He has set out to change all that and the first step was hiring the Granite low. Children dressed as angels, will lead the procession. A concert will be held at 10:00 pm for an informal, fun-filled evening at the Kings Grant Inn in Beverly on Saturday, November 9," notes the "Malden Evening News."

"Come and visit the nostalgic era of Elvis Presley. Can't you hear Elvis singing 'Can it Be' 45 years?"

"Dress in your 50s creation and come casual and you are assured of a terrific time dancing to the music of your favorite DJ, Linda Lucey, 'The Music Doctor'."

"Renew old friendships and dine on a sumptuous buffet."

"The Reunion Committee's chairpersons are Jean (Gianquito) Ray and George Nuttall."

"For tickets, contact Marion (Marianelli) Connors, 9 Berry St., Malden, 02148."

About The Towns

from S3
the curb during the first three weeks in November and the first week in December.

"There will also be a three-week spring collection time-period next year."

"The new format is in response to the overwhelming use of the two 40-yard dumpsters in the DPW yard on Pine Street. The dumpsters are available for use during the week, but it's during the weekends, when the DPW yard is unmanned, that residents flock to the dumpsters to dispose of their yard waste."

"Nearly each weekend, the two large dumpsters are filled to the brim, forcing residents to place their leaves outside the dumpsters and eventually spill all the way out to Pine Street. It quickly becomes an eyesore, makes it difficult and frustrating for residents to drop off their leaves and makes it tough to clean-up for DPW employees..."

Your home: Q & A

How can I organize my kitchen to create more storage and eliminate the clutter?

You may have storage problems in the kitchen especially if you're a gadget lover — from pasta makers to espresso machines. There's just one thing to do: organize your kitchen storage.

Here are some tips to enhance kitchen storage:

Clutter Patrol

- Clear out unused clutter to make room for important items. Chipped dishes, mismatched glassware, old but unused wedding gifts — throw them away, hold a garage sale or donate them to charity.

Logical Location

- Store items as close as possible to the place they will be used. Keep oil, spices and kitchen utensils close to the range. Food storage areas should be near one another and where you unload groceries. Keep cleaning materials close to the sink or the dishwasher.

Improve Shelves

- Use shelf dividers to organize wide shelves into narrow compartments, grouping like items for easy access. Dividers keep pots, pans and electric gadgets in a space of their own.
- Customize the interiors of your cupboards with plastic, rubber or plastic-coated wire organizers.
- Use common sense when organizing drawers; put all like objects together and keep them that way with ready-made organizers.
- Turn a cabinet section into a huge sliding drawer. It makes access easier, and is ideal for housing a toaster, food mixer or an out-of-sight trash receptacle.

— When cabinets don't reach to the ceiling, use the top space for storing handsome, large pieces that aren't used regularly.

Add Shelves

- Add shelves to the inside doors of pantries and cupboards when possible. When the main shelves are recessed sufficiently, this addition is extremely easy.
- Create storage space with small, exposed shelves at the side ends of your cabinets or island counters.
- Cut niches between studs to create cubbyholes for spices, potholders or other small items.

Rack 'Em

- The most efficient kitchens utilize airspace for storage. Suspend racks for pots and pans from the ceiling. Hang tiered baskets for vegetables. Install racks for hanging barware upside down, and mount wire units on walls for hanging coffee cups or utensils.

Room Shift

- Consider shifting some storage to your dining room. Perhaps you have a vacant dining room corner perfect for a corner cupboard or corner shelving unit. Add built-in plate racks or custom shelves above a sideboard or console table. Kitchen Cart to the Rescue — Create a pantry by stacking wire drawers in a rolling cart and filling them with groceries. Various configurations of portable, ready-made wire stacking drawers, baskets and bins in a cart allow you to create your own pantry storage area for canned and packaged foods without the trouble and expense of reconstructing your kitchen.

Neatness and Cabinet Doors

— How organized you want your kitchen to appear should be a consideration in deciding between glass or wooden-door cabinets. Be honest with yourself: if you're not inherently neat, it's best to hide your cabinet contents behind wooden doors.

— Make it easier to sort and store recyclable items by tossing them into the roomy wire baskets of a kitchen cart.

Rivers Bill Amended but Lacks Appeal Process

Officials from the Massachusetts Association of Realtors (MAR) commended House Speaker Tom Finneran and other state representatives for fashioning a "rivers" bill which recognizes a performance base standard rather than strict prohibitions on riverfront area development.

"We've consistently opposed the rivers bill based on the fact that its called for a strict prohibition against development within 150 feet of thousands of rivers, streams, and other tributaries in the state," acknowledged MAR President Laura Shifrin. But, the latest version of the bill (S. 1838), released by the House Ways & Means Committee on July 19, would create a performance based approach, which is far more reasonable to the real estate industry, said Shifrin.

"It's gratifying to see that the no build provisions previously contained in the legislation have been removed, and that the bill has been further amended to Rivers to S-16

Hoys from S-5

Goal to raise $3,000

The cost of replacing the bleachers at the baseball diamond will be approximately $3,000, according to Athletic Boosters President John Norton. Norton wrote to the Business Association last year requesting assistance with upgrading the facilities at the high school. It was not until this year that the Business Association was able to contact Norton with the news of their planned race and he was thrilled with the offer.

The final piece of this puzzle is the replacement of the home bleachers, which are the original wood and steel bleachers at the field, Norton said. They also plan to remove the old scoreboard which has deteriorated into a hazard.

Mile marker sponsors

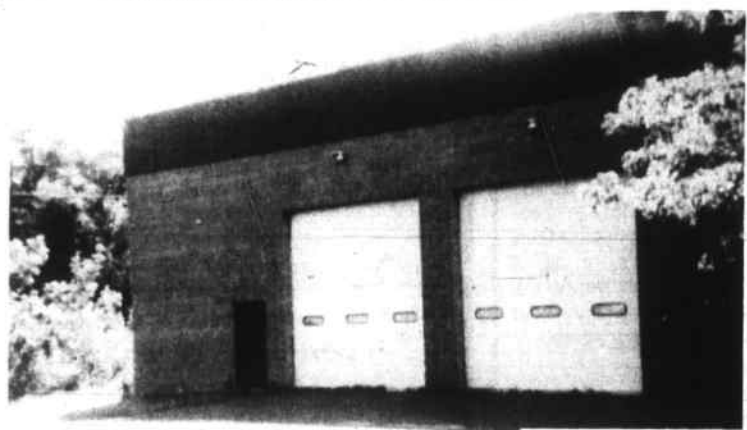

Letters were recently sent to all businesses in North Reading requesting their support and participation in the Showcase and the road race.

"We're going to have sponsorship for the race numbers, sponsorship on the T-shirts, and gold, silver and bronze sponsors. To be a gold sponsor you pay $75 to have your name listed at the race on a plaque. Silver is $50 and bronze is $35," Favaloro said.

An official entry form for the road race is included in this week's edition of the Middlesex East Supplement. Forms are also available at Johnson's Hardware in Reading center, Bucko's Sporting Goods, 158 Main St., (Route 28) North Reading, or by calling Favaloro at (508) 664-1000.

New Insulation Easier For Do-It-Yourself

When the weather warms, many homeowners begin thinking about remodeling projects and additions.

Whether you're upgrading insulation in your attic to keep your home cooler in the summer, or adding on a new room, energy efficiency is important. Many do-it-yourselfers don't like to insulate because the material is itchy and uncomfortable to work with.

For your home improvement projects involving insulation, consider a new fiber glass insulation designed to make the job much easier. It's an encapsulated insulation, which means it's covered with a non woven fabric to reduce dust and itchiness. The soft facing also makes the product easier to install.

This new insulation material, called Easy Handler, comes in a wide variety of R-values for ceiling, wall floor and crawlspace applications.

Since the energy efficient home can help cut energy bills by reducing heat loss in winter and heat gain in the summer, insulation can pay for itself in a few years and keep on helping you save while adding to the resale value of your home.

Free Brochure
For more information on fiber glass insulation, write to the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482 or call 1-800-782-8777 for a free copy of the Easy Handler brochure or visit the institute on the Internet at <http://www.cerainteed.com>.

FREE OVER THE PHONE MARKET EVALUATION WITH A GUARANTEE!

If you are thinking of selling your home within the next 12 months, why not get an approximation of the market value of your property... right over the phone? It's simple... call our office at 944-6060 and answer a few questions about the type, style, lot size, taxes and amenities of your home. With this information we will do a Market Analysis and call you back promptly.

Of course, a more accurate analysis of your property's value will require us to do an interior inspection of your home to check for the quality of finishes, room layout and several other factors. This inspection has several other advantages too! Primarily we can advise you about what repairs to do or not to do! Often owners think they must do a lot more work than they really need to... but it's important to do the right things that will attract the buyer's attention!

GUARANTEE

If we can't recommend after our inspection at least three fix-up ideas to you that you haven't thought of, we'll take $100 off the commission when the property sells!

* As of 6/28/96 Prime Rate was 8.25%. The interest rate is variable and adjusts monthly to the Wall Street Journal Prime Rate as quoted on the last day of every month. Interest rate will not exceed 18% APR or fall below 7% APR during the life of the loan. Consult with your tax advisor regarding tax deductibility. Property insurance required. Available in 1-4 family primary residences only. Offer not valid for current Winter Hill Equity Edge Line customers.

Middlesex East Sports Athletes & Activities

BY PAUL FEELY

While many of us are sunning on the beaches or trying to keep cool at work this month, nearly 400 of the nation's top high school hockey players from 30 states and Canada are perfecting their game while participating in the 22nd annual Hockey Night in Boston Tournament of the Stars.

The 18-team extravaganza, which kicks off HNIB's 24th season of promoting scholastic hockey, will take place for the fifth consecutive summer at the Volpe Complex on the campus of Merrimack College. All 90 games of the round-robin portion of the tournament are free of charge, while an admission charge will be in effect for the playoffs, which run from August 19-22.

At the recent NHL draft in St. Louis, 15 former HNIB stars were chosen, including two in the first round. The 1996 Summer Showcase is star-studded, with several probable choices for the 1997 draft.

HNIB has been a recognized leader in promoting and showcasing scholastic hockey for nearly 25 years, first in New England and currently on a national level.

There are many local players on the HNIB squads this summer. The following is a list of the players:

-North Shore Team: Brendan Hodge (Lynnfield), Mike Dalton

(Lynnfield), Mark Ferullo (Lynnfield), Jon Gregorio (Melrose), Dan Mahoney (Tewksbury), Chris Connolly (Melrose);
-Greater Boston Team: Chris Maniatis (Medford), T.J. Scarparotti (Medford), Tony Sarno (Medford), Joe Roy (Medford), Mike Morrison (Medford);
-Suburban Team: Kevin Cahill (Woburn), Andrew Santonelli (Lynnfield), Scott Curry (Burlington).

SPORTS SHORTS

• MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: With the region in the middle of the first real heat wave of the summer, here's a question to help cool you off: What two schools brought ice hockey to the United States in 1893? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

• Woburn's JIM AND ERIN HENNESSEY attended the semifinal and final women's soccer games last week during the festivities for the Centennial Olympic Games in Atlanta. Erin is a former Woburn High captain and a varsity player for Tufts University, while Jim is a former Woburn coach.

• Woburn's MIKE INGALLS, who won the MIAA Div. 2 and All-State 125-pound championships last winter, recently competed in the National freestyle and Greco-Roman tournaments at the Fargodome in Fargo, North Dakota. He won two of six matches in the 132-pound weight class.

• Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia question? It was brought back to this country by two tennis players.

• The MIDDLESEX COUNTY KRUSH 18-and-under softball team, which consists of the most talented players in the area, headed off to Columbus, Ohio recently to participate in the American Softball Association World Series, but lost both its games.

The Krush fell to the Western Michigan Mavericks 2-1, and then to the S.A.A. Sluggers of Louisville, Kentucky, 5-3 in six innings.

• Participating in the Boston to New York AIDS Ride to raise money on September 5 will be Stoneham Cooperative Bank employees ROB KELLEY AND BARBRA CRYSTAL. All the money raised will be donated to the Fenway Community Health Center.

• ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: While some folks claim that St. Paul's School in Concord, New Hampshire, played the first ice hockey game in the country during the 1880's, the two schools which are usually credited with bringing the game here are Yale and John Hopkins universities, after two tennis players from a tournament between the schools in Canada liked what they saw, and brought the game back. Congratulations to those that answered the question correctly.

allow substantial grandfathering of existing structures," Shiffrin remarked. "Our association also is supportive of the Legislature's recognition of the need for a funding mechanism in the bill to acquire property and examine the issue of transferable development rights," she added.

"However, we are concerned with new language in this draft which increases the buffer zone along riverfront areas from 150 feet to 200 feet, and we are disappointed that there is no administrative appeal process incorporated within the bill to allow small property owners an avenue in which they may contest a suspected land taking or diminution in their property's value," stated Shiffrin. "Hopefully, we can work with the legislature to adequately address these points of concern into a final draft of the bill."
